

ing of the seventeenth rear guard action of a stubborn character near the town of Mahoff. Near the village of Karnevo we made a brilliant counter attack.

"In the direction of Lublin enemy attacks during the 15th on the front Wilkowitz-Vychawa (east and north of Krasnik) were successfully repulsed.

"At dawn of the 15th the enemy captured Krasnostav (34 miles south of Lublin) on the Vistula and crossed up-stream. During the course of the 15th enemy attacks toward the stream flowing from Rybnohivits toward the village of Piasni and the Vistula remained without result. On the right bank of the Vistula we repulsed near Krasnostav and the River Woltza many extremely stubborn enemy attacks. Nevertheless, near the mouth of the Vistula and the village of Gaevalki the enemy succeeded in establishing himself on the right bank of this river, after which we judged it advisable to retire to our second-line positions.

"In the region of the village of Grabova on the 15th we repulsed four furious enemy attacks on a wide front supported by a curtain of fire from the artillery.

"Between Gaevalki and the Bug on the evening of the 17th, after a desperate fight we drove the enemy from all the trenches previously occupied by him.

"On the Bug energetic fighting continued against the enemy, who crossed on the 18th on the front Skomorsky-Sokol.

Kaiser Reported to Have Predicted a Coup in West.
LONDON, July 20.—The Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent says Emperor William has sent the following telegram to his sister, the Queen of Greece: "I have played the Russians for at least six months and am on the eve of delivering a coup on the western front that will make all Europe tremble."

Six French Aeroplanes Bombed Station at Colmar.

Italians Take Several Lines of Trenches in Isonzo.
ROME, July 20.—An official communication issued by the General Staff says: "With our occupation of the Carso Plateau (on the Isonzo front) several lines of trenches, solidly armored and protected, were successively assaulted and captured. Two thousand prisoners, including 30 officers and 100 machine guns, 100 rifles and a large quantity of munitions were captured."

Most of Crew Saved Following Sinking of German U-Boat.
ROME, July 20.—A statement given out at the Ministry of Marine yesterday, tells of operations at sea as follows:

"At dawn on the 18th a division composed of the old cruisers Varese, Francesco Ferruccio, Giuseppe Garibaldi and Vettor Pisani, approached the waters of Cattaro, manifesting its presence by bombarding and seriously damaging the railroads of the locality, while other warships, acting against Gravosa, destroyed a machinery depot, the barracks and several other military buildings, and landed a party which made a reconnaissance on Giuppana Island. Enemy cruisers which had taken refuge at the Cattaro base, which, although of obsolete type, could have offered opposition to our old cruisers, did not come out from the port, but nevertheless kept up steam. While our ships were drawing off they made an attack by submarines and the Giuseppe Garibaldi, after avoiding the first attack, was struck by a torpedo and sunk. The crew preserved discipline and behaved with coolness, shouting several times, 'Long live the King!' before jumping into the sea in obedience to orders. Most of them were saved."

Swedish Premier's Speech Regarded as Warning to Allies.
BERLIN, July 20.—By wireless to Sayville.—The Overseas News Agency today gave out the following:

"The speech of the Swedish Premier, Dr. Hammarskjöld, indicating that under certain conditions Sweden might go to war, is regarded in Berlin political circles as a warning to Russia and England."

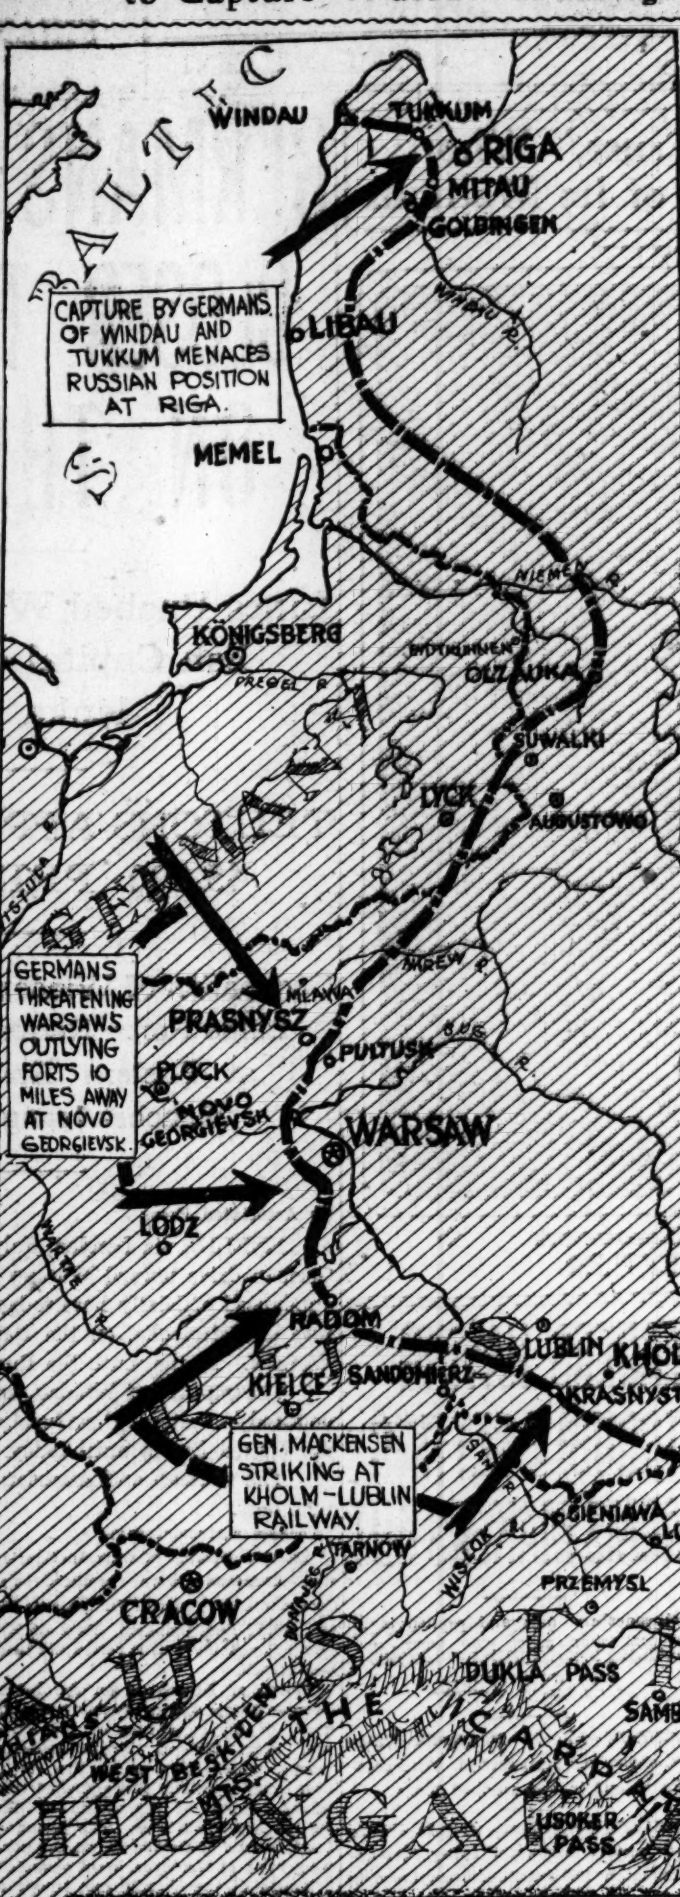

Submarine Sinks Russian Ship; Lets Crew Escape.
LONDON, July 20.—The Russian steamer General Radetsky was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine, July 17. Her crew of 22 were saved.

SWIFT & CO. PAYS $5000 FINE
Check Settles Case Involving Charges of Monopoly in Missouri.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 20.—The clerk of the Supreme Court today received a check for $5000 from Swift & Co., packers, in payment of the fine recently imposed for violation of the anti-trust laws. The case involved charges that the company sought to control the prices of dairy products in Missouri. The company agreed with the Attorney-General to pay a nominal fine and costs and to obey the State laws.

Four Stabbed to Death by Woman.
Douglas Adams, a negro, of 3607 Adams street, when standing at twenty-third and Chestnut streets, early today, was stabbed to death by Lulu Johnson, a negro, of 318 Pine street. The woman said Adams had slapped her and that she then stabbed him with a pocket knife.

British Steamer Sunk in Collision.
LONDON, July 20.—The British steamer Polish Prince, from New York, June 17, has been sunk in collision with the Lower Range. One man was drowned, the remaining members of the crew being landed safely at Barry by the Lower Range.

Map of Germany's Great Drive to Capture Warsaw and Riga

The German advance upon Riga is a serious menace to the Russians since with its occupation the Germans would cut the railway leading from Riga to Warsaw and thus cut off some of the Russian supplies. If Warsaw should be evacuated, the Russians would have to depend on the railway from Petrograd, leading through Danaburg, Vilna, Grodno, Bialostok and Brest Litovsk, where there are also lines from the interior and southern Russia.

"Trust" Loaves Change in Size With Flour Price

Boettler did not give the actual value of the Wells-Bottler plant, of which he was president, but said the promoters took for the plant for $500,000. Freund was not positive how much the promoters received for organizing the corporation, but he said Neuberger received 990 shares of preferred and 10,000 shares of common stock. The corporation has $1,000,000 in preferred stock and $2,000,000 in common stock and has paid 7 per cent upon the former and 5 per cent upon the latter.

Both witnesses testified that the sale of several of the seven companies frequently call upon the same customer and sell bread under different brands that in exactly the same way from exactly the same materials. A majority of the wagons used by the American Bakery Co. also bear the names of the several firms which entered the corporation, thus giving persons an idea of competition, although all prices are fixed by the Executive Board of the corporation.

PRIZE COURT PROBABLY WILL CONDEMN MOST OF U. S. COTTON
British Government so indicated in Ruling on Contraband Which It Has Held Up.

LONDON, July 20.—A large part of the shipments of American cotton held up by England probably will be condemned by the prize court. This was indicated by a ruling made today by the Government.

POLICE ASK FOR PAPERS FOR BOND JUMPER IN CALIFORNIA

James B. Carraglen, Under Arrest, Started Spectacular Career Here at World's Fair in 1904.

The police have requested the Circuit Attorney to prepare papers for the extradition to St. Louis of James B. Carraglen, under arrest in San Bernardino, Cal. As the result of experiences with him in various cities the American Bankers' Protective Association has named Carraglen as a most dangerous forger. He is wanted in Joplin, Kansas City and Cincinnati, but St. Louis has a prior claim on him because he jumped a bond here.

Carraglen began a rather spectacular career here during the World's Fair, when he promoted a Pike concession known as "Ancient Rome." Stockholders complained he had swindled them and he was given four years in the penitentiary for obtaining money by false pretenses.

He never served the time because Circuit Attorney Harvey, who as a private attorney had defended him, obtained a reversal from the Supreme Court that was so favorable to Carraglen that the prosecuting witnesses did not press the matter further.

Carraglen passed a bogus check for $50 on Sam Epstein, a professional tumbler, in September, 1914, and twice jumped bond.

CONGRESSMAN GOES INSANE
Parker of New York Is to Be Taken to Private Sanatorium.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Congressman Richard Wayne Parker, who was committed yesterday to the County Hospital for the Insane, is to be taken to a private sanatorium today. Dr. Ambrose F. Dowd, resident physician at the hospital, declared that the Congressman undoubtedly was insane.

Congressman Parker yesterday rode on horseback from his summer home to the New York Railroad station on his way to Washington, where he declared he was needed on urgent Government business. Relatives overtook him and had him placed under restraint.

ANGLO-GERMAN AGREEMENT WAS SOUGHT IN 1912

Details of Negotiations That Failed Published in Berlin Newspaper.

LONDON, July 20.—The Berlin Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung publishes what purports to be the details of the negotiations in 1912 looking to an Anglo-German rapprochement, in which Viscount Haldane, then British Secretary of State for War, took a prominent part. The substance of the article is contained in a dispatch from Berlin, received by Reuters' Telegram Co., and the article is published "in order to disprove Viscount Haldane's statement that his efforts for peace were frustrated by Germany."

According to an official statement, the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung points out, Germany offered different forms of neutrality. The first draft of the treaty ran:

"Should one of the contracting parties become engaged in war with one or more Powers, then the other contracting party shall adopt at least an attitude of benevolent neutrality and exert every effort to localize the conflict."

Counter Proposal Made: England declined to accept this and made the following counter proposal: "England shall make no unprovoked attack on Germany and shall refrain from an aggressive policy with regard to Germany. An attack on Germany forms the basis of no treaty, nor is such object aimed at in any combination to which England belongs, and England will not be a party to any arrangement which aims at such an attack."

This proposal was not acceptable to Germany. The words "unprovoked attack," says the statement is quoted by the paper, were held to be too elastic to form the basis of a special treaty of friendship in that the assurances contained in the English proposal were deemed by Germany as constituting ordinary international relations.

The British embassy pointed out that it was impossible for the State Department to do so, as the operations of foreign agents, by issuing this statement:

"The British embassy has never at any time made any general complaint as to the supposed operations of foreign agents in this country. An inquiry has recently been addressed to the State Department as to whether, where cases of crime committed in Canada were traced to the investigation of persons residing in the United States such persons could be prosecuted or extradited under existing law or treaty."

DR. CLAXTON TELLS WHAT HE SAID ABOUT AMERICAN FLAG
Commissioner of Education Denies That He Ever Made Remark About American Flag.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., July 20.—Denial of the charge of the Sons of the American Revolution, in session at Portland, Ore., that he made remarks about the American flag was made public here today by Dr. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education. A resolution introduced at the convention yesterday asked President Wilson to dismiss the Commissioner.

Dr. Claxton, who is here lecturing, said:

"Five or six years ago, in Boston, I delivered a lecture in which, among other things, I said: 'In modern times the flag must stand for larger things than it did for the ancients. People are drawn from all corners of the earth to live together. They are born in one place, live in another, travel much and thus come nearer to the ideal universal fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man and in this connection the flag in the broader sense must serve all.'

"Should one of the contracting parties become involved in a war with one or more Powers and it cannot be said that the contracting party is the aggressor, then the other contracting party will observe toward him at least benevolent neutrality and strive toward the localization of the conflict. The contracting parties respectively bind themselves to come to an agreement regarding their attitude in the event of one of them being forced to declare war through the open provocation of a third."

Sir Edward Grey, British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, rejected this, but made the following proposal:

"Since both Powers mutually desire to ensure peace and friendship among themselves, England declares that she will make no unprovoked attack on Germany and will not participate in such. England also will refrain from an aggressive policy toward Germany."

"Wanted: 'Benevolent Neutrality.' This sentence was to replace the first sentence in the previous proposal. Germany assented to discuss the proposal, but made further negotiations dependent on assent to the following condition: 'England will naturally preserve a benevolent neutrality in the event of war being forced on Germany.'"

Sir Edward Grey, however, because of the decision of the British Cabinet, declined to go further than the proposed formula, basing his refusal "on the fear of otherwise endangering the existing friendly relations between England and other Powers." Whereupon Germany declined to continue the negotiations.

BRITAIN ACCUSES DETROIT MAN OF DYNAMITE PLOT

State Department Calls Upon Department of Justice to Make Investigation.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—At the instance of the British Government, the State Department has called on the Department of Justice to investigate the activities of certain German sympathizers in the United States who are alleged to have been employing unlawful means to strike at Great Britain and her allies. Until inquiry has developed whether there is sufficient evidence to warrant prosecutions, no names will be made public. Some are said to be those of men of high repute in American business circles.

It is known that information has reached the embassy concerning all kinds of plots ranging from schemes to wreck bridges over which railroads pass to carrying out volunteers of the British army; to the incitement of strikes at American industrial plants making war supplies for the allies.

One case, in which the British Government informed the State Department it had evidence, involved a wealthy German resident of Detroit, Mich., who was alleged to have supplied money to certain persons in Windsor, Ont., to finance an attempt to dynamite a Canadian armory and a factory making clothing for the British army.

The Bureau of Investigations of the Department of Justice is now conducting inquiries on its own initiative and several prosecutions have resulted. Stories of plots to blow up British ships at sea have been carefully looked into. Scores of suspected persons have been under surveillance in various parts of the country.

The British embassy pointed out that it was impossible for the State Department to do so, as the operations of foreign agents, by issuing this statement:

"The British embassy has never at any time made any general complaint as to the supposed operations of foreign agents in this country. An inquiry has recently been addressed to the State Department as to whether, where cases of crime committed in Canada were traced to the investigation of persons residing in the United States such persons could be prosecuted or extradited under existing law or treaty."

BERLIN EDITORIAL THAT WAS ATTACKED BY OTHER GERMAN ORGANS FOR DEFENDING U. S.

Copies Received of Eugene Zimmermann's Article Maintaining That American Arms Exports Do Not Violate Neutrality.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Copies of the Berliner Lokal Anzeiger of June 11 last, in which Eugene Zimmermann, director-general of that publication, a leading editorial urged an amicable settlement of the differences between Germany and the United States, have just reached New York.

It was this article that aroused Count Ernst von Reventlow and other radical editors in Germany to a series of vitriolic attacks upon Zimmermann, their contention being that he had humiliated the German empire in the eyes of the world by making it appear that Germany was afraid of the United States. The editorial followed:

"A youthful German Ambassador to one of the foreign countries in a report to the Berlin Foreign Office vented his indignation over the fact that the foreign Government to which he was accredited, had given him false information."

Zimmermann's Idea.
The Imperial Chancellor, Prince Bernhard, wrote on the margin of that report: 'Indignation is no political conception.' "It is difficult for us Germans to learn to replace sentimental considerations of political matters with reason's cool weighing of values. However, we must learn that—and, what is more, we must learn it quickly, else we always shall remain at a disadvantage in the political conflict of the nations which at the moment is raging with the same violence as is the conflict of arms."

"And happily this realization seems to be growing within the German Empire. We have practically ceased to deal with sentimental indignation. Italy's siding with the allies. Even in quarters outside those of the professional politicians endeavors are being made to figure out political and military counter moves upon the chessboard of history."

Cautious Sentiment Aside.
"In judging the new American note and in discussing Germany's ability to make it stand up to the American flag, we must not let sentimental policy and policies, for to indulge in them seems only loss of time if not the loss of the whole game."

"Some will refuse to join us. Those who are preaching 'war to the knife' are in a sort of mental rage, their minds hedged and hemmed by political unreason—those we cannot convert; nor do we wish to do so. They will stand aside, a little group, ignorant and misunderstood heroes of the word and pen."

"President Wilson wants nothing more and nothing less than to attempt to bring about an understanding between Germany and England as to the form of maritime war, and on this occasion to prevent the future jeopardizing of American passengers. After the course of development in maritime war we can take this is not an easy task. Yet, with the earnest and honest will of all concerned, it appears possible of solution."

President's 'Humanity' Plea.
"In President Wilson's note the word 'humanity' is used not less than six times. The British conception is that the world has set its mind and heart upon enforcing in this, the most cruel war the world has ever seen, the laws of lofty humanity. So stubborn is the American President, according to that 'error,' that he would drive his country into the cruelty of war, that he would send death by forced ammunition shipments hundreds of thousands of brave men and send thousands of American citizens into the conflict, all to help the principle of humanity to victory."

"We refuse to concur in this judgment of the President of the United States. We are of the opinion that he is possessed of the best intentions and has plenty of strong common sense. It is in these qualities that lie the possibility of solving the present dispute."

"We cannot today venture upon discussing our ideas of the right to the American note, because important details of past events are yet to be determined."

Shipments of Neutralities.
"However, we may point to certain recent symptoms of a national character. The reproach to America for furnishing war material to our enemies is not fair. It was unjust."

"It was Germany who, in the Hague discussion, defeated the proposal to forbid the shipment of war material from neutral states to belligerents. There exists, therefore, only agreement prohibiting shipments by neutral Governments to belligerents. A free course was left open to private industries."

"The American Government thus far has furnished no war material. It would not do that until we would enter into a state of war with the United States. In that event, too, the attempts of our enemies, thus far futile, to obtain cash from the United States for the continuation of the war, might become more promising of realization."

"This shall not and cannot frighten us, but we must know it. And by frankly saying so we are not revealing a secret; we are not, as is being asserted time and time again by wiretaps, bestowing a favor upon our enemies or upon neutrals. In America, in England and everywhere else, even a bootblack knows the difference between private and governmental action."

Submarine Warfare.
"The greatest difficulty in the task, which President Wilson has masterfully and voluntarily set himself, probably will be the proposed understanding with England as to the certain changes in the tactics of maritime war pursued, thus far, by the British Government. Probably it is wise enough to take its lessons from the experiences the maritime war has furnished up to date."

"The Great Britain it will be as plain, as it is to us, that Germany could never eliminate her superior weapons, the U-boat. That would be inhuman against ourselves, and humanity is the keynote of President Wilson's demands. But if England should be as willing as we are to lend an ear to the President of the United States, a rearrangement of the war zones on the seas might well become debatable."

"If passenger ships should be provided with special markings and with their Government's guarantee that they are not armed, the commanders of our U-boats certainly could respect and regard them, and the order of the British Admiralty to British merchantmen to sail U-boats would have to be canceled simultaneously therewith."

"However, we will not lose ourselves in details, for reasons before mentioned, but it is evident that much could be achieved if all concerned are honestly willing."

80,000 TO 100,000 HAVE LOST LIVES IN CHINESE FLOODS

Consul at Peking Cables for Aid of Navy Department in Vicinity of Canton.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—From 80,000 to 100,000 lives have been lost in the floods in the vicinity of Canton, China, according to a cablegram to the State Department today from Peking.

Consul-General Chesler has appeal for all the assistance that can be rendered by the Navy Department.

REQUEST OF SPIRITUALISTS TO AMEND CHARTER REFUSED Court Denies Application for Right to Issue Credentials to Mediums.

Circuit Judge Kinney today denied the application of the First Spiritual Association of St. Louis, which wished to amend its charter to give it the right to issue credentials to mediums to teach the spiritualistic religion, with the power of revocation, and to organize branch bodies.

The judge said that the proposed amendment was prohibited by the State Constitution, which permits religious organizations to incorporate only to hold title to real estate. He said that as a voluntary organization the Spiritualists might do the things sought. L. Walker, is president of the organization.

JACKSON JOHNSON IN NEW PLACE
Office of Chairman of Shoe Company Board Created for Him.

Jackson Johnson, president of the $25,000,000 International Shoe Co. since its reorganization, today was elected chairman of the board of directors, a position created for him. Oscar Johnson, one of the vice presidents, was elected to the presidency.

Jackson Johnson said he expected to devote as much of his time to the business of the company as he had in the past, but that he believed the responsibility should be divided. There was no other change among the officers.

BECKER'S STORY OF THE MURDER OF ROSENTHAL

He Says "Big Tim" Sullivan Gave Rose $6000 to Pay the Gambler to Leave Country.

SHOOTING NOT IN PLAN

Declares Rose Meant to Kidnap Rosenthal, Keep Money; Vallon, Drunk, Began Firing.

By Leased Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 20.—Joseph A. Shay,
a lawyer, has revealed former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker's own story of the murder of Herman Rosenthal as Becker has told it in a letter he is sending to Gov. Whitman from the death house at Sing Sing. Shay aided in the preparation of the letter.

These are the salient statements in the story:

Rosenthal was backed in his gambling house by "Big Tim" Sullivan, who formerly represented the Bowery district in Congress.

Becker protected the house a while because of his fear of "Big Tim."

Sullivan became panic-stricken when Rosenthal tried to "squelch."
He gave "Jack" Rose $6000 to pay
Rosenthal to get out of the country.

Rose, desirous of keeping most of the $6000, arranged with the four gunmen and "Bridgie" Webber to kidnap Rosenthal and frighten him into leaving the United States.

Murder was never contemplated.
Harry Vallon, crazed by drink, began to shoot when Rosenthal emerged from the Hotel Metropole, instead of slugging the gambler, with a blackjack. The other members of the party joined in.

Becker knew of the arrangements, but washed his hands of them.

"Big Tim," realizing that Becker was innocent of instigating the murder and fearing that he himself would be implicated in the assassination, let Becker be convicted, and then worried himself to the point of insanity.

Told Priest Same Story.
The Rev. Father J. P. Curry, Becker's spiritual adviser, said that Becker related the same story to him three years ago.

Beginning by saying, "I have never had my day in court, but you have had yours," Becker continues in his remarkable narrative by placing upon the shoulders of "Big Tim," who was found dead two years ago on the New York Central Railroad tracks, all the onus of the Rosenthal affair.

"Big Tim" sent for me long before the shooting and told me he was desirous of staking Rosenthal and let him run a gambling house uptown," says Becker.
In substance, in his narrative.

"I told him he couldn't do it," but because of "Big Tim's" threat, I finally had to let Rosenthal open his house. It was running along fine when "Bridgie" Webber got jealous and wrote a letter to Commissioner Waldo under the name
"Harry Williams," telling him all about the house.

"Waldo called me in and told me to investigate the facts of the letter. I went to 'Big Tim' right away and informed him of the order.

"I'll fix it up with Waldo; you let the house keep going," Big Tim told me.
"I've got to raid."

"I thought he was telling the truth and that he used his pull to make Waldo come around, but he was fooling me. A second and a third letter came to Waldo and he turned them over to me.
After the third one I went to 'Big Tim'
and said: 'I've got to raid.' He told me to go ahead, that he would make it all right 'downtown.' I thought Waldo was ordering the raid for effect and that the arrests wouldn't amount to anything.

"I raided, though, and arrested two of Rosenthal's kitchenmen as operators of the house. That started all the trouble that ended in Rosenthal's death.

"Under 'Big Tim's' orders, I advised
the two men arrested to plead guilty.
They did so and were sent up. Rosenthal got mad and began to visit everybody that would listen to his story."

Here Becker begins to tell of the events leading up to the murder of Rosenthal under the bright lights of Broadway, a few rods from where several policemen were stationed.

The Sunday night before the shooting I went with my wife to Brighton Beach and didn't get back until midnight. As I started to bed the telephone began ringing and my wife told me Harry Applebaum, 'Big Tim's' secretary, was at the phone.

"Come down," he told me. "The big fellow wants to see you; it's very important."

"He wouldn't tell me where he was,
or where he wanted me to come, and I told him it was late and 'Big Tim'
would have to wait until next day.
"No," he shouted. "You've got to see him tonight. I'll come there and get you. You've got to come."

"What Does This Mean?"

"In a little while he did come with 'Jack' Rose in an automobile. I went with him to the Columbia Theater Building. There we found 'Big Tim' and another man whom I did not know.

"What does this mean?" 'Big Tim'
asked me, seeming to be badly frightened. 'Rosenthal is going before the grand jury and he's going to implicate me.'"

"That's all right," I told him. "The fellow, 'Don't' told him. He didn't get corroborated."

"Then I turned to 'Jack' Rose and said: 'We have all the witnesses fixed, haven't we, Jack?'

"Then answered: 'I've seen all the witnesses and they'll throw Rosenthal down.'"

"But I'm afraid," said 'Big Tim.' 'I don't want my name connected with this thing.'"

"I told him he could be frightened, but that I wasn't that Rosenthal had

RUSSIANS AND GERMANS CHAT DURING TRUCE TO BURY DEAD

Exchange Cards, Papers and Cigarettes for Four Hours on Dnieper River.

LONDON, July 20.—The Morning Post prints this dispatch from its correspondent at Budapest:

"There was a four hours' truce on the Dnieper front recently for a burial of the dead. This truce is described as following a sanguinary fight that lasted for days.

"There were thousands of Austrian dead lying before the Russian wire fences and thousands of Russian soldiers' bodies strewn before the Austrian entanglements in consequence of frequent attacks and counter-attacks, in front of the rows of wire.

During the truce the officers and men chatted cordially and exchanged German and French papers and cigarettes. One of the Austrian officers wrote a letter to his brother who is a prisoner of war in Siberia. A Russian Major took the letter and promised to post it. Visiting cards were exchanged and officers parted expressing wishes to meet again under more peaceful and friendly circumstances."

9 WAITERS ACQUITTED IN GEM RESTAURANT PICKETING CASE

Court Holds State Cannot Prove Conspiracy by Admission of Parties Charged.

Six waitresses and three waiters, who were placed on trial in the Court of Criminal Correction yesterday on charges that they entered into a conspiracy to destroy the business of the Gem Restaurant, 710 Pine street, were acquitted on instructions from Provisional Judge Garsche, after he had sustained a demurrer to the State's evidence.

The Court held that the State could not prove a conspiracy by admission of the parties charged, and the State announced it had no other proof.

The defendants were Louise Kane, 4033
Kennerly avenue; Josie McCoy, 3114
Washington avenue; Florence Frederic, 416 North Twenty-third street; Olie Chandler, 4033 Kennerly avenue; Ina Chapman, East St. Louis; Bessie Brooks, East St.
Louis; Oscar Close, 1338 Chambers street; Joseph Fenton, 7064 Pine street, and James F. Scully, 7064 Pine street.

HIS WATCH AND FOB TOO CHEAP

Man Says He Was Robbed by Woman, Who Returned Articles.

John Rothave, 23 years old, of 2309 College avenue, was holding a watch in one hand and a fob in the other when a woman met him at Ninth and Pine streets, about 4 o'clock this morning.
He said he had fallen asleep at Twelfth and Pine street while waiting for a car and that when he awoke three women and three men were bending over him.

He said one of the women had his watch and fob and that she threw them at him with the remark that they were cheap. He followed the three couples, he said, but they disappeared at Tenth and Pine streets.

Trial of Bandit Starr Begins.
CHANDLER, Ok., July 20.—Testimony of Lewis Estes, who pleaded guilty to participating in the robbery last spring of a bank at Stroud, Ok., will be used against Henry Starr and three others, charged with the same offense, at their trial which opened here today. Starr's alleged accomplices, Claude Sawyer, Bud Maxwell and Charles Johnson, it is announced, will attempt to establish alibis.

Two More U. S. Observers CALLED FROM GERMAN FRONT

Teutonic Idea Concerning American Arms Made Their Position Uncomfortable.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Col. John Riddle and Capt. Berkeley Enoch, until recently attached to the Embassy at Vienna, as army observers, today were assigned to the War College. With their return the European battlefields are left virtually without American military observers. While both officers and also the War Department refused to discuss their return, it is believed to be a fulfillment of Secretary Garrison's policy to withdraw officers where their presence caused friction and embarrassment.

It is said the popular idea among officers in the armies of the Teutonic allies of the destruction wrought by American arms and ammunition made the position of the American observers uncomfortable.

POLISH "BANKER" MISSING; HOLDERS OF NOTES ALARMED

Crowd of Men and Women
Gather at Paul S. Kalucki's Office.

Polish workmen, and women with babies in their arms and with shawls over their heads, gathered this morning in front of the locked office of Paul S. Kalucki, steamship agent and "banker," 927 O'Fallon street. Kalucki, the neighborhood Beau Brummel, and the custodian of the savings of many small wage earners, has not been seen at the office since Saturday.

Most of those in the line of anxious, unsecured notes. The notes acknowledge the receipt of money "for safe keeping," are not interestable, and bear 3 per cent interest. Most of them were made payable on demand, but some are payable in 30 or 60 days, or six months. The individual sums range from $10 to $300, and the aggregate is believed to be several thousand dollars.

Resistance to Poland.
Others, it was said, intrusted money to Kalucki, within the last few days, to be sent to relatives in Poland. An advertisement placed by Kalucki in a Polish paper and published in days ago, stated that Kalucki could send sums of money to Poland, by a means not available to others, and could give the sender a receipt, signed by the recipient of the money, within 30 days.

How large a sum was given to him in this way is not known, but the neighbors say business at his place has been rushing since the advertisement appeared.

Kalucki and his wife, with her father and brother, lived in a three-story house adjoining the office. His advertisement called attention to his place of residence. No one was at home today and the neighbors believe Mrs. Kalucki is with her husband. She is known as the beauty of the neighborhood, being tall and stately. Some of the furniture was removed from the house yesterday and the police are trying to trace it.

Kalucki's mustache and side whiskers were carefully kept, and were the admiration of the neighborhood. There was a report that he was seen yesterday or Sunday, with his face clean shaven. He was 40 years old, or more, but was fond of the company of young folk.

Arrest Starts Trouble.
He was arrested July 3 in a store on Washington avenue, on a peace disturbance charge, on a woman's complaint, and was fined $100 in Police Court last Thursday. This occurrence caused some of his depositors to demand their money, and things gradually assumed the aspect of a "run" on his so-called bank.

Besides the men and women in the several shop girls, who were unable to leave their work this morning, are said to have placed their savings in Kalucki's keeping.

Some of the depositors were heads of families, who had supported them on $12 or even $19 a week, and at the same time, in the course of five or 10 years, had saved a few hundred dollars.

Mrs. Walentyna Witkowska, who earns $12 a week by doing piece work in a clothing factory, said she intrusted her savings, $150, to Kalucki. Her purpose, she said, was to save enough to provide her with a little income of her own.

FRANK HAS GOOD NIGHT; DOCTORS ARE ENCOURAGED

He Is Moved to Private Room
From Prison Hospital and Stands Trip Well.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., July 20.— Physicians attending Leo M. Frank, whose throat was cut by another convict at the prison farm here Saturday night, said today that Frank had passed a restful night and that they considered his condition good, under the circumstances. He is able to take nourishment, but attendants have difficulty in preventing him from talking.

Physicians attending Frank issued a statement at 9 a. m. saying Frank's temperature at that hour was 100; pulse 80 and respiration 20.

Frank today was removed from the prison hospital to a private room. He stood the trip well, according to the doctors.

Green, questioned further by prison officials, said he believed that he had been called "from on high to kill Frank," whose death sentence for Mary Phagan's murder recently was commuted by Gov. Slaton, now retired. He now indicates no remorse for his act, although immediately after the attack Saturday night he said he was sorry for what he had done.

"I only wish that I had had more strength," Green said. "I think I have done my duty in this matter as well as my strength allowed. I believe that God has helped me. I don't think that I ever did a wrong in my life."

Green weighs 165 pounds but is partly paralyzed in his left arm. The physicians believe that this probably prevented him from killing Frank as he was unable to seize him when he used the knife.

State Commission to Visit Prison to Investigate Attack on Frank.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 20.—The Penitentiary Commission of the Georgia House of Representatives, late yesterday, voted to table three resolutions which would have provided for a legislative investigation of the attack made on Leo M.
Frank, at the state prison farm at Milledgeville. Members of the committee said they believed that William Green, the convict who attacked Frank, alone was involved, and that there was no negligence on the part of the prison officials.

The State Prison Commission will visit the prison at Saturday to investigate the attack on Frank, according to an announcement by R. E. Davison, chairman of the board. He said the inquiry would try to establish if other than Green were involved, how Green got the knife he used, and if he had permission from a guard to leave his bed at the time the attack was made.

Kansas and Oklahoma at the Fair.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—The Kansas sunflower yesterday took precedence over the California poppy at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, while a large number of Kansans, headed by Gov. Arthur Capper, celebrated "Kansas day." Oklahoma also had its day yesterday. There were addresses by Jackson Shipps, representing Gov. R. L. Williams, and Mrs. Fred Sutton, commissioner-general of Oklahoma to the exposition.

GLEN ECHO "OUTS" TO CALL MEETING OF ALL MEMBERS

Prediction Made That Not Half of "Ins" Will Join New Organization.

Oscar E. Buder, one of the Glen Echo
"ins" who has joined the "outs" in their protest against the action of the Board of Trustees in excluding 135 members of the old club from the invitation list of the projected new one, today told a Post-Dispatch reporter that after a canvass he was sure that a least half of the "ins" would refuse to accept membership in the new club unless all old members in good standing should be included in the invitation.

Buder, who is an attorney, was in conference with other lawyers today.
He presided over a meeting of some of the "outs" at the American Annex yesterday afternoon. Lon V. Hocker, law partner of J. C. Jones, former member of the Board of Trustees, also attended this meeting, although, like Buder, he was one of the "ins." Jones resigned as trustee because he did not approve of the exclusion of the "outs" at a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees.

"At least half of those invited to join the new club will not go into it under the existing circumstances," said Buder.

Will Ask All Members to Meet.
"At yesterday's meeting it was decided to call an open meeting of the entire club membership within the next week or 10 days. It is the impression of nearly all the members of the old club that the committee which brought in the proprietor was acting for the entire membership of the club."

"Asked whether there was a possibility that the purchasing trustees might be left with a fine golf course, and with nobody to play on it, as a result of efforts to check the formation of a new club, Buder said:

"It looks very much as though they will never get the property."

After the sale of the club property at auction, July 30, a certified check for $13,288.55 was paid to the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. as trustee for the creditors and also as trustee for the club, with the understanding that approximately $50,000, which would remain after the club's debts were paid, should be held in trust for the club members.

Thus far no petition for dissolution has been filed in court by the Glen Echo Country Club. Although its property has been sold it still has its corporate existence, which gives it the power to sue as a corporate body, to have the sale set aside.

Many Favors Compromised.
If the club should be successful in this action, the proceeds of the sale would have to be paid back to the purchasers. This would restore to the club its equity in the property, but would leave it burdened with the same debt
as before the sale.

One of the "outs" today said that many of the old members would favor compromising with the purchasing trustees on the condition that the invitation list of the new club be revised so as to include all old members in good standing. The "outs," he said, would not insist that the new club take in members who had failed to pay their dues promptly or who had violated rules of the Glen Echo Country Club.

A Coming Event

A bottle of Hyde Park is always an event. It's something to look forward to with pleasure. It's something to look back upon with satisfaction. If you have tried Hyde Park you will appreciate how big a meaning this has; if you haven't, be sure to try it today.

HYDE PARK

"Seldom Equaled Never Exceeded"

Bottled Beer has a distinct flavor that distinguishes it from all other beers.
It cools, refreshes and invigorates. It's a sparkling, golden-hued beverage that makes hot days enjoyable.

In your home there should be a case of Hyde Park and a few bottles should always be kept on the ice. Call your wife on the phone now; ask her to order from her grocer, and tonight have a bottle of icy cold Hyde Park with your dinner.
You'll thank us for the suggestion
if you do.

All Hotels and Cafes
serve Hyde Park

The fourth process in the making of Hyde Park Bottled Beer is that of adding the hops, and then boiling the solution until it contains the exact proportions of its different constituents. This is done in the huge copper kettle

MAN, WIFE AND BOY SHOT BY TENANT IN ROW OVER CROPS

Farmer Uses Shotgun, Firing on Child After He Crawls Under Bed.

A quarrel over the division of the crops on a truck farm at Edgemont, owned by August Roloff, and tenanted by Oscar Malzer, led last night to the shooting of Roloff, his wife, Emma, 42 years old, and his son, George, 8 years old, by Malzer. Mrs. Roloff was sprinkled in the back with light shot. Roloff was slightly wounded in the leg, but the boy was seriously hurt, being struck in the back with many shot.

The shooting occurred at 10 p. m. after an all-day controversy between Malzer and the Roloffs, in which Mrs. Roloff had caused Malzer's arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The Roloffs, who live at the Congress Hotel in East St. Louis, were walking around in the truck fields, when they were ordered to halt by Malzer. Mrs. Roloff said she told Malzer who she was, but that he opened fire upon them. The boy was so frightened by the shooting, she said, that he ran into the house occupied by Malzer, and crawled under the bed. Malzer, she said, broke open the door with a gun, and placed the muzzle of the gun under the bed, and fired. She ran into the house and dragged the wounded boy out, thinking he was dead, and started for the home of a neighbor.

When she was about 50 yards away, she said, Malzer fired another shot, and she was wounded a second time. She said she managed to get the boy to the Interurban Railroad station, and took him to East St. Louis, where he was treated in St. Mary's Hospital. Malzer, when arrested, said that he saw some people in his truck gardens, and thinking they were robbers, fired, after having first warned them to leave.

After Malzer was locked in jail, he was served with a divorce suit petition filed by his wife at Salem, Mo. The wife is now living at 405 McPherson avenue, St. Louis.

LOSES WATCH, FOB, PANAMA HAT, WHEN AUTOS COLLIDE

Edward Sadring Is Thrown From His Car and One of His Ribs Is Fractured.

Edward Sadring, salesman, 49 years, of 428 Greer avenue, is trying to learn what became of his watch, fob and Panama hat, when his auto collided with that of William A. Mann, 23, of 4564 Washington boulevard, at Taylor and Natural Bridge avenues about 11:30 o'clock last night.

Mann was driving east on Natural Bridge and Sadring was turning south into Taylor when the cars came together. Harold L. Murphy and his wife of 2213 Thurman boulevard were with Mann, but neither was hurt. Sadring was thrown from his car and one of his ribs was fractured.

Three young men who witnessed the accident carried Sadring into the home of Frank Hookman, 2629 North Taylor avenue. He was hatless when picked up. Sadring complained immediately that he had been robbed and policemen questioned the men who had carried him into the house. They were known in the neighborhood and several citizens vouched for their good character. Mann was arrested on a charge of carelessness and later was released on bond.

MADISON PLANT TO MAKE NEW CARS FOR B. & O. RAILWAY

Part of Order for Equipment to Cost $2,500,000 Goes to Illinois Works.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 20.—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad placed contracts yesterday for equipment which will cost approximately $2,500,000. The orders call for 2000 steel hopper cars and 50 cars for passenger service. Immediate delivery is stipulated in the contracts.

The hopper cars will be equipped with longitudinal doors and modern apparatus for complete and quick unloading. They will be built by the American Car and Foundry Co., at Madison, Ill., the Pressed Steel Car Co., Pittsburgh, and the Cambria Steel Co., Johnstown, Pa. The order for passenger cars was placed with the Pullman company, Chicago, and included 35 coaches, five combination passenger and baggage cars, two baggage and mail cars, four baggage cars, two cafe parlor cars and two cafe coaches.

Concert in Washington Square. The first downtown free concert will be held tomorrow night in Washington Square, which is the name the city has recently adopted for the court between the city hall and the Municipal Courts Building. Romeo Barunno's Band will play.

RAILROAD MAN, 60, AND A GIRL, 17, ARE ARRESTED

Conductor Is Released on Bond; Young Woman to Held on Bond as Witness.

John R. Williams, 60 years old, a conductor on the Alton Bridge & Belt Railroad, and Miss Hattie Schuler, 17 years old, of West Alton, were arrested by detectives at the home of the girl's aunt, Mrs. Robert L. Fleck, 1887A Cote Brillante avenue, last night. They were taken to Alton, where a charge was placed against Williams and he was released on $500 bond to appear for a hearing next Monday. The girl will be held in bond as a witness.

Miss Schuler said she met Williams when she rode on his train when going to Alton to take music lessons, and that shortly after their first meeting he made love to her in Alton. Williams has a family in Hannibal.

BERNSTEIN, FRENCH DRAMATIST, MARRIES WHILE AT THE FRONT

Mlle. Antoinette Martin Becomes His Bride in a Town Back of the Firing Line.

LONDON, July 20.—The Paris correspondent of the Evening News telegraphs: "Henri Bernstein, the French dramatist, who is now at the front as a gunner, has married Mlle. Antoinette Martin."

Bernstein came from a village in Flanders, where his battery was quartered, to a town behind the firing line, where the ceremony took place, with four officers as witnesses.

POPE DISAVOWS. INTERVIEW PRINTED IN PARIS PAPER

He Explains Views in Letter to Cardinal Who Complained of "Painful Impression."

PARIS, July 20.—An autograph letter from Pope Benedict to Cardinal Amette, Archbishop of Paris, contains the following:

"We absolutely disavow Latapie's article, which represents neither our ideas nor words, and was published without our revision or permission."

The Pope repeats his previous declaration that his views are to be found in public statements and not in accounts of private conversations. To make his attitude still clearer, the Pope enclosed a copy of an interview given by Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, to the Corriere d'Italia of Rome, and letters of the Cardinal to the Vatican, the former condemning the invasion of Belgium and treatment of the clergy and the latter affirming that the Pope never pronounced against the legality of the blockade of Germany.

MAN WHO LEFT HIS HOME WITH FRIEND IS FOUND DYING

He Expires While Neighbors
Vainly Hunt for Doctor—Bump on His Head.

Steve Stankivics of 1700 North Ninth street, descending the steps in the rear of the tenement building at that address about 5 o'clock this morning, stumbled over Wallace Zmurski, 27 years old, a third-floor tenant, who was lying at the bottom of the stairs in the backyard. He died shortly afterward.

The body was removed to the morgue, where surgeons found a bump on the back of the head, but could not say that it had caused death. An autopsy was ordered.

Mrs. Zmurski said her husband left their rooms at 11:30 o'clock last night to escort down the back steps Steve Stankivics, 24 years old, of 1716 North Tenth street, who had spent the evening with them. Stankivics had drunk too much, Mrs. Zmurski said, and her husband feared he would fall down the steps if he went alone. Stankivics was ordered held as a Coroner's witness. He said he could not remember what had happened during the night.

Society

MPROMPTU picnics are one of the chief amusements for the belles and beaux who are spending the summer at home. Last night a party motored out to Julius Kocher's place, near the Meramec River, and had supper on the porch. Afterward they went over to Sunset Inn and danced.

The party included Miss Gertrude McLeod and her guest, Miss Lucile Reardon of New York; Miss Virginia Simpson, Margaret Gale, Josephine Ball, Onelia O'Hara, Louise Pittman and Cora Pittman; Messrs. Carl Krausnick, Frederick Pittman, Valla Heyburn, Humphrey Gifford, Roland Hoerr, Jack Lionberger, Oliver Lucas and Mason Scudler.

Mrs. Luther Ely Smith of 3221 Waterman avenue and her three children are spending the summer at Magnolia, Mass., with Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Kennard.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Limberg of the Claridge apartments are being congratulated upon the arrival of a son last evening. Mrs. Limberg bore her marriage was Saunders, Virginia Saunders Foster, the daughter of Col. Saunders Foster.

Miss Loretta Conaty of Vicksburg, Miss., arrived Sunday to visit her sister, Miss Adelaide Burgess of 3822 West Pine boulevard. She will remain about three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dee Becker of 4048 Lindell boulevard and their children will depart next week for Gratiot Beach, Mich., for the remainder of the season.

Mrs. Waymen C. McCreery of 3841 Westminster place and her daughters, Mrs. Oscar Vieths and Miss Catherine McCreery, departed yesterday for California. They went by way of the Canadian Rockies and will be gone all summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa A. Wallace have gone to their summer home at Harbor Point, Mich. Their son, Robert Brookings Wallace and Mrs. Wallace, have closed their apartment at 6330 Delmar boulevard and are occupying the Wallace house in University Lane during their absence.

Col. Frederick D. Gardner of 4508 West Pine boulevard departed several days ago to join Mrs. Gardner and their children, Janet, Billy and Doris, at Long Beach, Cal., where they have a summer home.

Miss Louise King F. Waterman Avenue will depart this week for Bay St. Louis and Gulfport, Miss., to stay until late in the autumn.

Judge and Mrs. Karl Kimmel of the Washington Hotel and Master Jack Kimmel, departed Monday night for Lake Harbor, Mich., where they will spend the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Green of 2828 Acomac street departed Thursday for the California Exposition. They will visit Mr. Green's brothers, Wallace and Harry Green, in San Francisco, and a sister, Mrs. Stella Green Rucker, at San Diego. On their return they will visit another brother, Wade Green, at Breckenridge, Colo.

Misses Alice and Sadie Freedman, nieces of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Zatliff of 5308 Minerva avenue, have departed for New York City and Boston to visit relatives.

Adhesive, invisible, harmless, Satin skin powder is made in 5 dainty tins.—Adv.

Belasco's Cousin Killed in Auto. CHICAGO, July 20.—Daniel Belasco, an attorney and cousin of David Belasco, the theatrical manager and author, was killed in an automobile accident near Libertyville yesterday. Mrs. Fred Drayheim and her sister-in-law, Miss Anna Drayheim, and Simon Westfield were injured. One of the women perhaps fatally.

GOING AWAY THIS SUMMER! Make your vacation complete. Have the Post-Dispatch mailed to your address, which may be changed as frequently as you wish. Price by mail.

WIDOW OF MURK HALSTEAD DIES. BIDEFORD, Me., July 20.—The death at Bideford Pool Sunday of Mrs. Mary Halstead, 78 years old, widow of Murk Halstead, former editor of the "Maine Commercial," has been announced.

ZEAL OF WORKERS FOR BABIES' FUND BRINGING RESULTS

Enthusiasm Displayed Toward Cause This Year Probably Greater Than Ever Before.

Boys and girls of St. Louis, members of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice League, are devoting themselves zealously to the philanthropic cause in which they are enlisted, that of ministering to the comfort and saving the lives of poor and heat-stricken babies. It is doubtful if there has been a time in the history of the movement when there was more widespread activity, greater enthusiasm and resolution or more ingenuity in organizing and carrying through benefits for the fund from which pure milk and free ice, essentials to the well-being of the babies, are paid for. It will be due to no lack of effort on the part of the boys and girls of St. Louis if the sum provided for this purpose long remains inadequate to the demands upon it.

At the home of Mrs. Conrad Heister, 1409 North Euclid avenue, this evening Little Nellie Heister, assisted by several of her playmates, will hold a carnival for the fund. Ice cream, cake, lemonade, soda water and other refreshments will be sold, and while these are being enjoyed the boys and girls will entertain the attendants with music and other features.

Next Tuesday evening a number of children of University City will hold a bazaar in the interest of the needy babies, at which sweets will be sold and various features contributed to the entertainment of the guests. The benefit is to take place at 6300 Delmar.

Carnival Planned for Aug. 1.
Aug. 1 there is to be an entertainment, with a carnival the chief feature, at the residence of Miss Elizabeth Denton, 4224A Page boulevard. For this event nine girls and a boy are enlisted and each of them is working assiduously to make it a conspicuous success.

The second evidence this season of the abiding interest of residents in the extreme northern section of the city in the welfare of the poor babies was given Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Edward E. Rudolph, 8222 Church road. Three girls and four boys organized and carried through an entertainment to a splendid finish, raising $5. The chief element in the entertainment was a display of pictures in a slide machine, to which were added a number of songs and recitations by the little people. The first benefit for the fund took place some weeks ago, when six girls and two boys added $4 to the fund. Evelyn Rode of West Balla avenue, 7 years old, and Joseph Mayer of 384 Walton avenue, 3 years old, inspired by a desire to aid the benevolent cause of the babies, devoted an hour or so to the work and collected 72 cents.

Nine children in the vicinity of Twenty-fifth and Mullany streets conducted a carnival at that corner for five evenings, earning $3 for the Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. This is the first year these little ones lent aid to the cause, but such enjoyment was found in the work that they propose to continue it indefinitely.

Their carnival composed a series of booths in which varied entertainment was offered. The most successful of these from an earning standpoint was that in which visitors "rang" canes. Ice cream, candy, cake and lemonade were sold.

Those who had charge of the entertainment were: Harry Gieselman, 1601 North Twenty-fifth street; Mary, Alphonse and Cornelius Toomey, 1607 North Twenty-fifth; Alice Patin, 2015 Slattery street; Alice and May Quirk, 1611 North Twenty-fifth street; Bernice Allen, 206 Howard street, and Leo Hanson, 1229 North Twenty-fifth street.

Singing, dancing, recitations and mirror-gazing pictures constituted an entertainment Saturday evening at the home of Mary Agnes Booth, 5107 Von Versen avenue. The six children who enlisted for the affair worked hard to make it a success. In the one day which they devoted to the sale of tickets they realized $5.06. Those who organized and conducted the entertainment are all residents on Von Versen avenue, as follows: John and Mary Agnes Booth, 5107; Eugenia and Ludwig Stern, 5104, and June and Jane Phillippi, 5106. This was the first year these children have been actively interested in the cause.

Two-Part Show Nets $5.
Friday evening a two-part show was given for the benefit of the fund at the home of Guy Goltzman, 310 South Euclid avenue. The first part was the display of postal cards by means of a projecting machine. Part 2 consisted of selections on a victrola. The entertainment realized $5. Guy E. Goltzman and Conrad Rizer, the latter of 4372 Duncan avenue, who arranged this benefit are planning another show to be given during the next two weeks. It will vary somewhat from the former one, but its exact nature has not been fully determined.

A circus wherein Indians, cowboys, clowns and actors figured, was given by eight children at the home of Milton Carpenter, 829 Church road, in Baden. Tickets were sold for 1 cent each, and yielded $4 for the fund. Those who took part were: Helen and Mary Auman, 8433 Halls Ferry road; Milton and Mildred Carpenter, 829 Church road; Rose Gidney, 204 East Grand avenue; Anna Schilling, 720 Bittner avenue, and Sidney and Mabel Voal, 8431 Halls Ferry road. This was the first year these children have worked for the fund.

Children Give a Play.
"The Fairy's Visit," a charming children's play, was produced at the home of Pauline and Josephine Compton, 5200 Von Versen avenue, Friday afternoon, for the benefit of the fund. The proceeds were $4.57. Those who took part were: Viva McGee, 5242 Kensington avenue; Louis and Pearl

Ralph d'Oench, 2945 Flora boulevard, began to operate a lemonade stand Saturday afternoon. During the afternoon and evening he earned almost $25. Ralph says he will not discontinue the stand until he has earned $20 for the aid of the poor babies.

In the account of the entertainment given by boys and girls at 2333 Columbia avenue the name of Clarence Kline was inadvertently omitted. Clarence had a leading part in the affair and worked energetically to make it the success it proved.

JOHN J. CAHILL, ACTOR, BURIED

Former Comedian Played Several Years in "Pirates of Penzance."
The funeral of John J. Cahill, who died Sunday at his home, 4766 Kennerly avenue, was held this morning at the Blessed Sacrament Church. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

Cahill was 58 years old. In his youth he was a comedian and played for several years in "Pirates of Penzance." He retired from the stage 10 years ago and since that time has participated in entertainments in many Catholic parishes. His favorite song, which he often sang at these entertainments, was "I Want to Be an Angel."

SEVEN CLUBS HAVE EQUAL CHANCES TO WIN N. L. PENNANT

Brooklyn, Now in First Division, Has Shown the Best Recent Spurt

BRAVES QUIT CELLAR

Record of the Giants Also Attracts Notice of Baseball Observers.

By W. J. O'Connor.

It's a seven-club race in the National, with CINCINNATI the only non-contender. The Cardinals, considered a potent factor only a week ago, now are in fifth place, closer to last than first berth. Six successive defeats have taken the punch out of Hugh's hirelings.

The Giants by winning six of their last eight games have nosed into first division for the first time since the early days of the season. The Braves have evacuated last place and are steadily pulling up on the leaders, but nowhere along the biased trail of the Derby route is there such a record as Brooklyn is making.

On June 24, the Superbas were last with a record of 24 wins and 32 defeats. Today the Superbas are dead-locked with the Cubs for second place, one game behind the pace-making Phils, with a record of 43 victories and 37 defeats. They have won 19 out of their last 24 games, a percent-

Rucker May Swing Balance.

This is the most substantial spurt taken by any N. L. club so far this campaign. And when Nap Rucker etched another shut-out into his great record against the Pirates yesterday, the Supers began to assume something of a pennant hue—something at least more than a flash.

Pitching is the vital factor in pennant baseball and Brooklyn has the best picnic staff in the parent body. Whether the development of such men as Sherrod Smith, Wheeler and Anderson is attributable to Manager Robinson, once a great catcher, or Jack Coombs, the Ironman of Philadelphia, is a question. However these three men have rounded to so opportunely that Brooklyn's picnic staff is about peer in the parent organization.

With Coombs, Rucker and Pfeffer as a seasoned trio, and Dell, Smith, Appleton and Aitchison as second string helpers, Brooklyn hasn't a worry in the world about moundeins. Sowers

As a since the beginning of their drive, the Pirates have been able to put the offense in the most important place with the offense, which has been the key to their success. The Pirates have been able to put the offense in the most important place with the offense, which has been the key to their success. The Pirates have been able to put the offense in the most important place with the offense, which has been the key to their success.

haven't the defense that other teams, even the Cards seem to possess, on the line. However, the fans of the Cardinals are expected to be disappointed if the Braves win until the fall and defense of the Mackman early in October. So, also, may Brooklyn be ignored.

Brooklyn's next test will be interesting. The Cards cross the bridge Thursday for a six-game series, and Hugh's entry always has been Brooklyn's. Last year the Superbas succeeded winning five out of 22 games from the Cardinals after they had vanquished the Yankees in the first round. This year the Cards have won four out of five from Robinson's entry.

But the Cardinals' offense now is about as lifeless as the Yankees' defense. The Brooklyn batters may be moving for home, but the Cards' offense is not likely to happen.

"I don't see just at present it will help," said the Cardinals' manager, Sam McWhorter. "I don't see the pitchers had to be changed."

At 11:30 a. m. the Cardinals' pressmen learn that on the eve of the return, St. Louis manager, Rogers Hornsby, had taken the position to a negative quantity.

"I don't see," said Hornsby, "that two persons have the Cards headed in the wrong direction. I don't see the team 'run on down.' Bug word of all. I don't see. I don't see. I don't see."

But the Cardinals do consider the Cardinals' pressmen.

After the Cards maintained face place in the first round, they have been in St. Louis, playing upon the club's return. As the Cardinals' pressmen have been in St. Louis, they have been in St. Louis.

There's hardly anyone to claim that the owners. Since the Brittons assumed command of the Cardinal club they haven't yet bid a steep price for a ballplayer. Doak cost $500. Meadows about the same. Blagoev cost for that amount. So were Ferrill and Wingo. But in spite of apparent ineffectual directorship, the club has jumped along the winners—up to now. Indeed, no such loose business system ever before was productive of gain as the Cardinals B. O. has been.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Automobile racing is to be introduced to several South American cities within a year, according to Tex Rickard, who formerly was prominent in American boxing circles.

Rickard was here today to inspect the Chicago motor speedway. He is representing a syndicate of prominent Airedale business men who own the building, two and one-half miles back. The South American metropolis, Rickard said, plans to offer a purse of $100,000 its first race, which is to be over a distance of 800 miles. Speedways will be constructed in a number of cities, he said.

CAVALRY TROOP B, N. G. M., HAS DAY OF REAL ROUGH RIDING

Officers Take Men Over Rocky Road, 19 Miles, From Fenton to Byrnesville.

Members of Cavalry Troop B, N. G. M., now on their annual march through counties adjoining St. Louis, qualified as rough riders yesterday by covering the 19 miles from Fenton, St. Louis County, to Byrnesville, Jefferson County.

The cavalrymen had expected to proceed from Fenton direct to Roberts-ville, Franklin County, their destination and the chosen camping place for the reminder of the week, but the officers decided that the route was too easy by the direct route and gave the men a day of rocky travel by the detour to Byrnes-ville.

From breakfast at 8 a. m. to supper at 6 p. m., the men had no food, except peaches, cherries and plums, handed to them by farmers' daughters as they rode past. As on the first day, an advance guard preceded the main body, learning the condition of the road, which was uniformly bad, and looking for the "enemy," who failed to manifest himself.

Lieut. Helkamp and four men formed the "point" of the advance guard, and a line of communication with the troop was kept open. Most of the "communications" related to the rocks and bumps in the highway, the usual message being that "the worst is yet to come."

Sergt. Mihulka of the Seventh United States Cavalry, detailed as an instructor with the troop, and Sergt. Bouche of Troop B made a map. It will be valuable in showing automobilists which way not to go. The supply wagons managed to keep up with the horsemen.

The men camped last night beside a small stream and set out this morning for — (name deleted by censor).

ST. LOUISAN DROWNS AT JEROME

News reached St. Louis yesterday of the drowning of St. Louisan, 28 years old, of 2434 Grace avenue, in the Gasconade River at Jerome, Mo., Sunday evening. Keller and George Weber of 2434 South Spring avenue had arrived at Jerome for an outing only a few hours before the drowning. Keller, who could not swim, went wading in the water.
He either stepped into a hole or fell and was swept away by the current.
The body has not been recovered.

Keller was the son of Joseph Keller, a tailor, and was bookkeeper for the Beacon Paper Co.

ROOSEVELT URGES SWISS MILITARY SYSTEM FOR U. S.

Says Peace Enthusiasts Have Been Terrorized by Spirit of German Militarism.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt urges a system of universal military service in the country founded upon the system at present employed in Switzerland. In the course of a long article upon "Peace Insurance by Preparedness Against War," which appears in the August number of the Metropolitan Magazine. The Colonel repeatedly denounces the men and women who "dream of peace" and declares that "there is no meaner moral attitude than that of a timid and selfish neutrality between right and wrong."

The peace enthusiasts have been cowed
by Germany, he writes. In his view, they are terrorized by the spirit of German militarism, and by sinking the Lusitania, he believes the Germans have achieved their object of terrorizing "all men of soft nature."

CAUSE OF BLAZE IN THE OKLAHOMA NOT DETERMINED

Builders of Ship Do Not Believe It Was Incendiary—Spontaneous Combustion Suggested.

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—Officials of the New York Shipbuilding Co., after a preliminary investigation today, were not able to determine the origin of the fire last night in the big battleship Oklahoma, which is nearing completion
at the company's yard in Camden, N. J. They do not entertain the theory of incendiaryism.

The fire started in either a magazine or an ammunition handling room. When it was discovered these compartments were so full of smoke that no one could enter and firemen extinguished the blaze by flooding the place with water.

Until all the water is pumped out the company will not be able to determine definitely the cause of the fire. The company does not believe crossed electric wires have been due to spontaneous combustion among material used in the interior fittings of the ship.

The Oklahoma is more than 80 per cent completed. The structure of the ship was not injured, the damage being confined to the interior.

Fires on Oklahoma Thought to Have Started in Wooden Supports.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The fire last night aboard the new dreadnought Oklahoma is believed to have originated in wooden supports and other inflammable material in the magazine space between the two forward turrets. Reports reaching the Navy Department today said officers thought it likely that a cigarette stub or burning match had started it. It may, however, have been due to electricity.

Navy department officials do not believe there is anything to indicate the work of an incendiary either in the fire aboard the Oklahoma or in recent fires on the New Jersey and Alabama.

POLICEMEN FIND WOMAN DEAD IN HOME, BULLET IN HEART

Boarder, Held as Witness, Says She Killed Herself Upon Learning That Husband Had Divorced Her.

Mrs. May Bales Brazile, 30 years old, of 1117 North Sarah street, was found dead in her home with a bullet wound in her heart last night by a policeman, called to the house by Harry Gannon, a bartender, who had lived at Mrs. Brazile's home for three years. Gannon told the policeman Mrs. Brazile shot herself with his revolver. He is held as an inquest witness.

Mrs. Brazile spent the day in East St. Louis, where she formerly lived. While there, Gannon said, she learned that her husband, Edward Brazile, an assistant yardmaster for the Terminal, had obtained a divorce.

Hogan said Mrs. Brazile returned home about 7 p. m. and seemed depressed by the news of the divorce. She left the kitchen after eating sandwiches and drinking beer with him, he said, and a few minutes later she stepped to the kitchen door and, showing the revolver to Gannon, said: "Maybe you think I won't do it." Gannon said she then ran into the middle room and shot herself. Mrs. Brazile and her husband separated about six years ago.

Belligerents' Right of Search.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your editorial, "A Double-Headed Wrong," is sound in the main, but you omit one important consideration. England has a legal right to investigate our shipments to neutral countries, where she has reasonable grounds for believing that the goods are ultimately destined for the enemy. Our official statement for the first nine months of the war, showing that our exports to four neutral European countries alone amounted to $408,000,000, compared with $173,000,000 for a like period of the previous year, justifies her in investigating. Both England and Germany have a legal right to search each other into surrender. It is more humane than killing for both sides.

Each has a right to destroy the other's ships on the high seas, provided no lives of non-combatants are sacrificed. No genuine trade between neutrals should be interfered with. England has not sunk any of our ships nor killed any of our people on the high seas, but Germany has. That is why our controversy with Germany is more serious than the one we have with England regarding interference with neutral commerce.

JEFF MACKAY.

We Favor Neither Jingoism Nor Pseudanility.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Appropos your persistent criticism of Col. Roosevelt's insistence that this country "act without unnecessary delay" in the Lusitania incident, permit me to inquire, does the Post-Dispatch consider "unnecessary delay" in dealing with the situation?

GUS O. NATIONS.

Munitions Trade Legal and Right.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The sale of American munitions of war to the allies is morally right, as well as legally right. If it were not, the American people would find some way to put a stop to it. By far the greater part of the American munitions are used in France and Belgium. These two countries are defending themselves against invasion. Not even a pro-German will deny that it is their right, and their duty, so to defend themselves. Where, then, is the wrong in selling them the means of defense? It may be said that Germany and Austria have also had to defend themselves against invasion on the east. The answer to this is, that this country has stood ready to sell munitions of war to Germany and Austria. It is not our fault, and it is distinctly their fault, that they have not availed themselves of this source of supply. Germany and Austria have navies. If they are unwilling to risk their navies in an effort to gain control of the sea, why should they expect the United States to give them the chief benefit which they would gain from control of the sea?

"Thou Shalt Not Kill!"

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Oh, did you hear the hammers knocking, knocking—
Oh, weird was the sound—and most shocking, shocking—
"Twas the red ray's vibration crying vengeance:
"Kill! Kill!"
And violet ray whispering back: "Wait for God's will, His will!"
Thou shalt not kill!
Is still the Divine will!
For vengeance is mine,
And I will repay in time."
But the hammers heard not the cry, but kept knocking, knocking—
With vengeance in every stroke—'twas shocking, most shocking.
And horror swept the bosoms of men—like a pall, like a pall!
When the noise ceased and they heard the trap fall,
No friends stood around—
No pity could be found—
Yet—ah, yet—on whose head
Rests the sin for such deed?
CHARLES W. STRAUGHAN.

The Turning Off of Spouse.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

After reading an eloquent description of the exquisitely beautiful tableaux, staged at Clayton Friday morning, permit me to offer a few suggestions: Why not erect a temporary amphitheater, with a seating capacity of 20,000. This would give the production a classic setting. With the liberal amount of free advertising which would be accorded an enterprise of this sort, it would doubtless play to a "full house." With the aid of the motion picture machine, we could leave to future generations actual proof of our progress in humanity under 20 centuries of Christian civilization.

GERMAN MILITARY EFFICIENCY.

With the German army's magnificent drive on the Russian lines succeeding beyond expectation we may credit the Kaiser's statement that he is "on the eve of delivering a coup on the Western front that will make all Europe tremble."

When all the failures of Germany to accomplish precisely what was planned at the opening of the war are listed there remains a superb record of achievements which testify to the skill of German military commanders and the courage, devotion and efficiency of the German army.

If Russian retreat is a part of Russian strategy it is forced strategy. The Germans have been able to deliver staggering blows at will. If Russia has not been crushed it is because the task is too gigantic—the forces are too great and the field of operation too wide for any available European army to accomplish the feat. But with all her millions of men and length of line Russia so far has just been able to evade the deadly punch. And this with the advantage of allies keeping a large part of the German forces busy.

On the Western front the British and French have done little on land except hold the German line. Kitchener's prediction that the war would open in May was verified by the Germans, not by the allies. Germany opened the spring campaign and has kept it going.

That nothing decisive, unless the Russian campaign proves to be so, has been accomplished by Germany cannot be charged to lack of military efficiency, but to the vast weight of opposing forces on two fronts. That her army has prevented a decisive blow from enemies on either front is in itself a brilliant achievement.

The allies must do something far beyond their past record or the war will end in a practical German victory. If German diplomacy equaled in efficiency the German military the end would be in sight.

Even more interesting than Becker's confession that another man was responsible for the murder of Rosenthal is his choice of "Big" Tim Sullivan as the guilty man. Dead men do not testify.

HUNGRY, BUT COMFORTABLE.

A man who wants but little here below, Genius Edison, advises everybody to eat less. We should be given only enough food, says he, so that when we rise from table we are "hungry but comfortable."

How to be comfortable though hungry, the ascetic does not explain. But it sounds millennial and we eagerly await the solution. When we learn to endure hunger without discomfort the wolf will not be driven to our door and nobody will have to get out and earn a living.

But what's the use of living at all, you may ask, if there is to be serene and supreme indifference to the wants of the body? To be sure there is something more than the flesh-pots to justify existence if we seek for it in the realm of the spiritual. Rising superior to physical needs, man might possibly be reconciled to Barmecide banquets if these could be made feasts of reason and flows of soul. But Mr. Edison would even do away with post-prandial oratory—he calls it "windy."

We apprehend that Mr. Edison's rarefied simplicity is a bit too severe for the average carnal being who gladly pays the penalty of distress for satiety and likes chin music with his meals. The trouble with the average being is he is too human and healthy. We apprehend that Mr. Edison is slightly dyspeptic and we advise him to go over and have a glass of buttermilk and a round of golf with Uncle John D. Rockefeller.

A SOLOMON NEEDED.

When is a school not a school? This ponderous proposition is up to the Excise Commissioner to solve.

The cause for the discussion arose when Wilhelm Keshamar and Andrew Zetzkow applied to Excise Commissioner Rumsey for a license to run a saloon at 4401 Virginia avenue, across the street from the new Grover Cleveland High School. Their contention was, that as the building, which has lately been completed, has not as yet been used for school purposes, it is not a school. And that the law prohibiting saloons within 300 feet of a school does not apply.

What a remarkable argument! By the same reasoning, a coffin would not be a coffin until inhabited by a corpse. Nor would a ship on the ways be a ship until consigned to the ocean.

The gentlemen seeking the license would doubtless define man as a featherless biped created to consume beer. Hence, a man would not be a man unless imbibing the refreshing beverage.

Well, it's up to you, Mr. Rumsey. It is too hard a nut for us to crack.

A PROGRESSIVE SIGN.

According to Supt. Blewett's report of the public school enrollment there were 99,446 pupils in the public schools last year, an increase of 1588 over that of the previous year. The increase for the past 10 years has been continuous.

Not only were there more pupils in the public schools, but there was a better record of attendance, the average of which increased 15.3 days. Better health, the compulsory attendance law and better schools, with greater variety of instruction are, in the opinion of Mr. Blewett, the reasons for the increase. The results are gratifying. The city in which school enrollment and attendance are increasing and the schools are becoming better is going forward. The present and the future are provided for.

SECRECY FOR WAR INVENTIONS.

Now that the inventive genius of the American people has been enlisted for defense, should the nation ever be forced into war, and a clearing house of distinguished men has been formed to develop feasible suggestions, is it not time to suggest to newspapers, scientific publications and magazines of all kinds, the propriety of ceasing to give publicity to every new device under consideration or adopted by the Government?

We read nowadays of improved submarines, of under water torpedoes directed from shore by electricity, of new kinds of explosives, machine guns and improvements in armor. The mere newspaper accounts of some of these things contain sufficient clues for the experts of other nations to utilize these achievements. It should not be forgotten that the first the world knew of the great 42 centimeter guns was when the Germans began to batter down the forts of Liege and Namur, the supposedly impregnable fortifications. Had the newspapers of Germany and Austria published a few years ago the details of these tremendous engines, there would be today, in Belgium and France, an entirely different battle line.

We believe that American newspapers, without exception, will gladly co-operate with the army and navy departments in obtaining for the exclusive use of our defenders every improvement in every branch of the service. A way should be found by which the major benefits of the inventive, engineering and mechanical skill of Americans for defensive purposes may be reserved for America.

THE GOLFUS.

The golfus at the Gloom Echo Club waxes more bitter and technical with each hour. At this writing the trustees announce they will stand pat. This notwithstanding that one of them, Mr. James Jones, who is seemingly for peace at any price, committed the Bryan act against the administration and disavowed its austerity.

The most interesting feature of the golfus is that its underlying causes have never been defined or explained. When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one crowd of golfers to dissolve the bands which have connected them with another bunch a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation. But no golfing Thomas Jefferson has told what this is all about. Some truths are self-evident: that all golfers are created equal; they are endowed with certain inalienable rights, among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of golf; that, to secure these rights, golf clubs are instituted among men, deriving their powers from the consent of the governed; that when any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the members to alter or abolish it, and to institute new government.

But what are the rights of neutrals, non-combatants and erstwhile members who have been named in contravention of Article V. of the U. S. Constitution, as they seem to think? And what are the rights of the innocent purchasers of a defunct golf club? A pretty question for the Supreme Court and a cause celebre that will no doubt rank with the Slaughter House and Dred Scott cases.

SOME MORE KRUPP LOGIC.

Persons in this country who profess to be horrified at the American traffic in munitions of war should note carefully what Germany and Austria are doing to Rumania. Both Germany and Austria have countenanced bitter agitations at home and in this country as a protest against trade that has always been lawful and which, pursued by individuals, has never before raised a question of neutrality.

Germany and Austria now menace the northern frontier of Rumania with armed forces because that country, thus far strictly neutral, refuses to permit shipments through its territory to Turkey of munitions of war. In this case Germany and Austria hope to enforce traffic in arms for their own benefit by governmental action on the part of a neutral. In our case they have attempted to prevent traffic in arms which for the moment is disadvantageous to them by governmental action on the part of another neutral.

No doubt after Rumania's rights shall have been violated we shall hear very little from Berlin and Vienna of the deadly shrapnel going forward from the Krupp works to deprive British and French women and children of their bread-winners who are now fighting at the Dardanelles.

LYING LOAF LABELS.

Our local Bread Trust, promoted some years ago by diamond-flashing, check-suited New Yorkers, admits that all the attractive labels it has been pasting on its various brands of bread and all the highly paid advertising of these brands, have been part of a method intended to deceive the bread consumer into believing that the tentacles of the trust were independent of each other.

There was a difference in the brands of bread, though all were compounded of the same ingredients and baked by the same process. In order to foster the public delusion, some brands were made a little worse than others. How this was done, if, as Mr. Boettler testifies, all the materials used were the same, is not apparent. The fact remains that, in order to keep up the deception, the consumer was compelled to eat bread under the standard set by the trust, which made it pretty poor.

And, as usual, it is the citizen of small means, who may have no facilities for baking his own bread, who suffers most from these combine frauds.

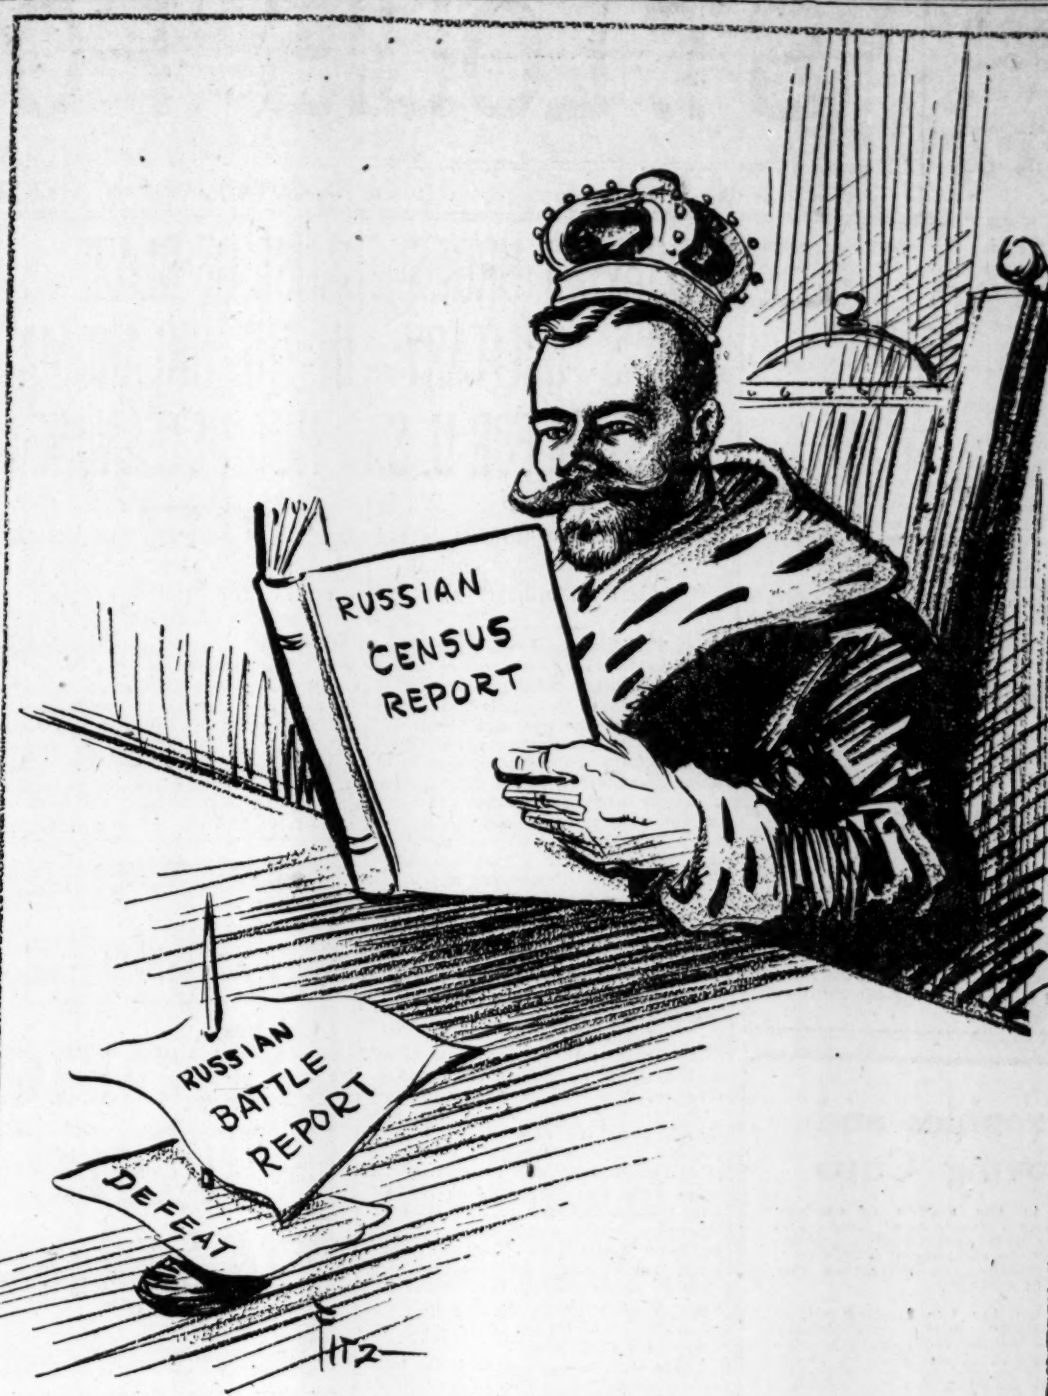

FOOD FOR THE BELLIGERENTS.

"Anon," abbreviation for "Anonymous," writes the Post-Dispatch condemning the editors of the St. Louis "English" papers for asserting, apropos of the Austrian demand for an arms embargo, that America has a right to ship munitions of war. "Anon," says, "the Austrians and Germans do not deny that we have such a right. What they are trying to impress upon us is that we have also a right to ship food to Germany."

If we want to be neutral we must ship food to Germany as well as ammunition to England. We can easily do this by holding up the ammunition until England allows the food to pass.

Suppose that we coerced England, by an ammunition embargo, to let shipments of food pass freely into Germany, would Germany, in turn, stop interfering with ships laden with food bound for England? On July 16, for example, a German submarine overhauled the Norwegian steamer Vega on her way to England and compelled her crew to dump into the sea her entire cargo of food, consisting of 200 tons of salmon, 800 cases of butter and 4000 cases of sardines.

Which belligerent is guiltless of attempting to starve its enemies? And if we insist that England shall permit food ships to freely enter German ports, shall we not, to be consistent, have to insist that Germany shall permit food ships to enter British ports?

AN APPEAL TO HUSBANDS.

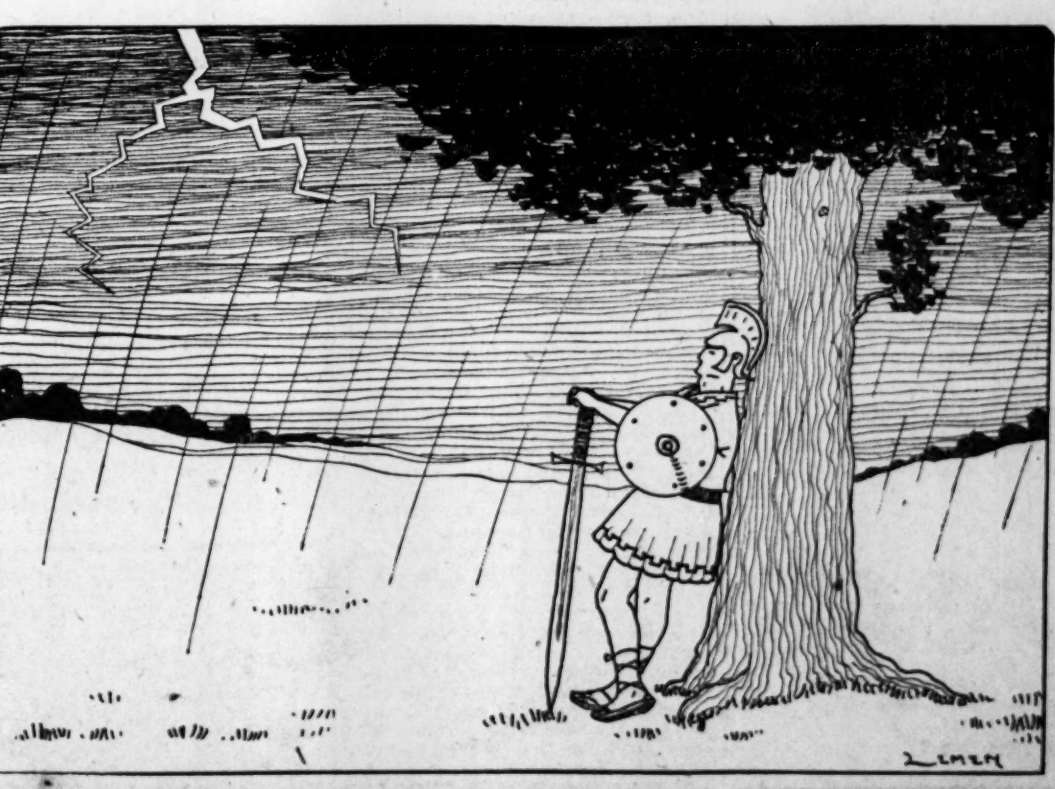

ONE had but to read Marguerite Martyn's story of yesterday to realize how far harrowed the good women of Clayton were by the Sprouse hanging. They were terribly upset by it, and some of them wonder what the effect of it is to be upon their children. Seeking to raise their children in an environment conducive to refinements of thought and feeling, they suddenly find them exposed to the spectacle of a man publicly hanged for murder.

It is bad, goodness knows—how bad we may judge by the little girl's childish exclamation, "Tomorrow's the hanging!" Let us hope that no more husbands kill their wives hereabouts for a while. While wives invariably go free for killing their husbands, husbands are almost always hanged for killing their wives. Sprouse was an example. He not only destroyed himself in destroying his wife, but he inflicted upon the community a worse injury still. There must be no more of that for a while. In the passing of Sprouse lightly dancing upon the air we have had all we care for of that kind of entertainment, and if the ends of justice are conserved we are heartily glad that some good is to come of it, anyway. We want to see Clayton restored to its accustomed interest in what is bright and beautiful in life. We also want wives to do everything they can to avoid being murdered. We have paid so much for the example we made of Sprouse for salutary purposes that we want the good effect of it all to become apparent at once.

The humidity went up to 73 in St. Louis a few days ago, leaving us the narrow margin of 27 per cent for breathing. Isn't the Weather Man pressing us a little at times?

A correspondent at Pine Bluff, Ark., thinks we had apogee and perigee confused, and we know we did until he corrected us.

AJAX DEFYING THE LIGHTNING.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

BEAUTY CULTURE.

H. L.—Falling hair: To 1 gallon rain water—never hard—add pound common salt. Let stand overnight. In morning boil 15 minutes. When cold strain through flannel cloth; 24 hours later boil again, strain when cold and bottle. A little violet perfume is agreeable. Use twice a week, rubber in with fingers and brush. Apply daily if hair is falling out. Keep scalp free from dandruff and oil. (Some merely rub salt into the scalp at night and comb it out in the morning). A food expert says: When one eats a reasonable ration of whole-wheat bread, unpolished rice with milk, or any other food containing all the elements of nutrition, and has proper exercise, general and local, there is no danger of loss of hair, if proper local treatment is maintained. The best treatment is a massage and vacuum cupping, which stimulates nutrition.

HEALTH HINTS.

HENRY.—Salt baths are supposed to be more refreshing and invigorating than plain baths. Natural salt (sea salt) is better than the refined. Phone drug stores.

FRIEND.—Peritonitis is inflammation of the covering of the intestines. It is due to infection with bacteria. The bacteria get into the peritoneum from the appendix, and from one of several other organs and from any one of several other sources. There are many causes of peritonitis. The cure must depend on the cause. Peritonitis is a disease and the patient must have medical advice and must follow it.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

QUINCY.—With a little brisk rubbing, a woolen cloth dipped in household ammonia will remove paint from window glass.

NIEMAND ZU HAUSE.—Toast marshmallows on a stick, before coal or flame, until they puff up and become brown.

THANK YOU.—Chocolate layer cake: Cream half cup butter with cup sugar, add milk, four beaten eggs and three ounces grated chocolate, dissolved in half cup milk. Beat hard, then add flour, prepared flour and bake in a tin. Cover for first 10 minutes with brown paper. (We hope some reader will send in for you the recipe for making plum wine.)

THANKS.—Crawfish soup: Choose 40 crawfish; boil well. Remove from fire and drain. Clean heads; keep 30 shells and the remains, which you will set to boil in quart water. Peel tails and chop fine. Make a paste with that meat to which you add cup of soaked bread, large spoon fried onions and chopped parsley; salt and pepper to taste. With this fill the 30 shells and set aside. Start soup by frying in butter an onion, some flour for thickening, and half cup each of green onions and parsley, chopped fine, a spray of thyme and two bay leaves. When browned, pour in the bouillon made with the remains of the heads and season with salt and strong pepper; let boil slowly half hour. Add more water if needed. When ready to serve take each head, roll in flour and fry in butter until crisp all around, and put in soup. Let boil 3 or 4 minutes and serve with very thin slices of toast.

LAW POINTS.

FORMULA.—Selling formula for cleansing the scalp is not practicing medicine.

M. HOEEL.—You can sue on the contract here. Whether it would pay you to do so we cannot say.

J. M.—As the chattel mortgage does not mention your furniture, you can remove or dispose of the same.

M. H. D.—Go to Special Tax Department, southeast corner city hall, in reference to your complaint.

MAN.—Set belongings of your sister-in-law out of doors, and let her claim a disturbance call an officer.

R. E. S.—See an attorney; or experienced notary will write up the paper. Have party and parties adopting and both parents of child sign the deed of adoption.

D. J.—From appearances your neighbor is violating building ordinance; however, positively no way to get information you give. See Building Commissioner, city hall, in reference to the matter.

IGNORANT.—Under facts you state, the sister at home taking care of house could make no claim against her for wages, unless such is agreed to by them. Neither could she make any claim against her mother or her estate unless her mother has agreed to pay her wages.

MISCELLANEOUS.

F. M.—See librarian.

G.—Write Chicago Record.

O. A. G.—Phone United Railways.

CONSTANT.—No premium on 1913 bill, series of 1898.

X. Y. Z.—Try Secretary of State for automobile bills.

ALBERT.—Court of Appeals record has no such case as Murphy vs. Du Dose.

J. W.—No premium on 1913 bill; small premium on fractional currency "if new and crisp."

C. H. S.—There is no national legal holiday. Each state names its own legal holidays.

D. S.—The older Duerow was executed by Granite Mountain mining stock. Execution Feb. 18, 1895.

CURIOS.—The "animated" cartoons at the picture shows are drawn by hand; a picture for each action.

I. H. C.—There was a report (which may not be true) that Bryan compared his Cabinet work to second fiddling and office boy duty.

MRS. L. B.—See Children's Guardians. Municipal Courts Bldg. Grandparents can not be made to take care of grandchildren.

NEW ST. LOUISIAN.—Take a practical course with an optician, and supplement the experience gained in this way by going to an optical college.

L. A. L.—Nihilism rejects all law, state, society and church. In Russia it has sought freedom of speech and of the press, local self-government, for towns, a democratic and permanent parliament and the land for the people.

G. E.—The man who says that if this country were to go to war with another country he would fight against this country, would not be arrested in time of peace. Perhaps he would be laughed at in time of war such talk might get him into trouble.

R. A. M.—Fish have little blood. Science, it is said, has proved that "cold-blooded" as a term is not correct in the sense of the popular belief that a fish is without warmth; that the normal temperature is 60 degrees Fahrenheit, which is only 21 degrees less than the normal temperature of man. Using delicate electrical apparatus for his experiments, a German scientist has reached the conclusion that fish are of the same temperature as the water in which they live.

BODE.—Cabinet born: Robert Lansing, born in Waterbury, N. Y., Oct. 11, 1864; Wm. Gibbs McAdoo, Marietta, Ga., Oct. 18, 1861; Lindley M. Garrison, Camden, N. J., Nov. 8, 1861; Wm. C. Clegg, Crawfordsville, Miss., Nov. 4, 1861; Albert Sidney Burleson, San Marcos, Tex., June 2, 1861; Josephus Daniels, Washington, N. Rauchon Wilson, Blantyre, Scotland, April 2, 1861.

Along Came Patty

In every clique there's just this sort of girl—a Johnny-on-the-Spot in no matter what the difficulty is—in short, a "situation saver."

By Mary Gertrude Sheridan.

NOTHING will ever mend it!" sobbed Eunice Martin.

"Mend what?" questioned her friend and confidant, Mrs. Almie Tresham.

"My broken heart!" was the wailing response.

"Nonsense! Why, child, you are making a mountain out of a mole hill. Young men must have their swing. Mr. Tresham himself, sedate and so behaved as he is, was a positive cavalier before I married him."

"I despise flirting!" flashed out Eunice.

"And your affianced lover, Roy Porter, has been flirting, has he?"

"Abominably. And worse!" pronounced Eunice severely.

"He is down at Brook Haven—for a week's rest, he claimed. I have some friends there. They say that he is the constant companion of a dashing young lady whom nobody knows. They are out automobile-billing most of the time. They are almost inseparable. They take long, mysterious jaunts. Oh, my!" and fair Eunice broke down in tears.

"Why don't you write to him and call him to time?" suggested Mrs. Tresham.

"Oh, never that! I'd wear my heart out first. I'm too proud for that."

"Well, Eunice," spoke her friend soberly, "you should have encouraged my brother Walter. You had won him half way out of his shyness and then dropped him for Roy. I am sure he would never cause you any jealousy."

"Distressed as Eunice was, the suggestion was too ludicrous for her."

"Oh, my, no—dear old Walter! He's good as gold, but he never thought of me in any way except as his sister's friend. Why, Walter cares more for a new bird's egg or a new butterfly specimen than he does for all the women in the world. But Roy—oh, it's hard to lose faith in him after we were so happy," and Eunice wept.

"Your friend's shoulder, the latter trying to console her and promising to help out some way in the situation."

Along Comes Patty.

BUT how? Mrs. Tresham dubiously questioned herself as she started homeward, and then—along came Patty.

Never was a friend and adviser more welcomed. Unexpected, too, but then Patty was always bobbing in at odd minutes in her queer, erratic, flashing way.

"Why, my dear girl!" cried Mrs. Tresham tumultuously. "Who ever expected to see you?"

"Didn't you invite me last year?"

"I did; and certainly reinvite you now!" declared Mrs. Tresham enthusiastically, with a lively remembrance of this "everybody's friend," who had ruled the girls at college, a popular queen.

There had been but one Patty, and she "just came along." A new, strange student found a wise and powerful champion in Patty; the homesick were petted and nursed into content by this bright, heartsome creature, who had never had a home of her own.

When Patty dropped, the robins used to sit around and call back, she had so sweet and compelling a warble. Should Patty whistle to a dispirited dog, the animal straightway plucked up hope and courage and went into a spasm of delight, treating an end to its hunger. In the promising twinkle of Patty's eye.

She was 24, but petite, and looked 16. Patty had the wisdom of 46. She had come to visit her old school friend just in the nick of time. It seemed, for morning Mrs. Tresham told her about the troubles of mourning Eunice, and Patty's clever eyes sparkled.

"A naughty boy-tiff-hearts sundered—oh, dear me! I'll have to try and mend all that. Just as soon as I get through looking over those wonderful specimens of beetles that wonderful brother of yours had showed me yesterday, I'll take a run down to Brook Haven and look over the ground."

"Why, you speak pretty fine of that; dull, self-centered brother of mine, Patty!" smiled Mrs. Tresham.

"Walter!" replied Patty effusively. "I dote on him! He's the most sensible, and therefore the most interesting young man I have met in a year."

"About me!" gasped Walter, and his

How to Be Slim
and Attractive

If you are one of the many who suffer from obesity you know only too well the humiliation and discomfort one suffers when they are too fat. The cause of obesity is undoubtedly due to faulty assimilation. Too much of your food is turned into fat, and too little into strength and vitality. To correct this eat sparingly of starchy foods and get from any good drugstore a few of the new capsules and take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Wash yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body.

It costs little, is absolutely harmless and I am sure a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.—ADV.

Evolutions of the Woman's Blouse

Once Manly and Separate,
With Cuffs and Collar,
It Has Been Feminized and Made Prominent Part of the Toilette.

THE introduction of the separate blouse into feminine society came almost simultaneously with the woman's tailor suit. At first they were mainly affairs evolved to go with the severely plain suits. Starched and stiff, yokes, stick-up collars and attached cuffs were their characteristics. They were always of some figured material or colored gingham, as white was considered a bit too shirtlike.

Gradually, however, they were feminized and softened, the collars came off and were replaced by stocks of ribbon or embroidery and the cuffs were made undetachable, without the links. Soon they were made of frivolous materials, such as silk and lace, but it was for some time still regarded an "undress" garment.

All of a sudden the idea of using it as a means of smartening a tailor suit for formal wear occurred. It was the natural accompaniment of the evolution of the suit, which began to assume a dressier effect by its cut and material, and by braid or fur trimming.

Womankind went rather mad about the blouse for a time, and bright-colored, decollete evening waists were often seen with black velvet or silk skirts. Such a break at the waistline was most unkind, however, to most figures, and as soon as women realized this they adopted the one-color scheme of a blouse in harmony with the skirt. This was found so practical and convenient that it has not disappeared yet. The washable blouse too has gone through its own various phases, until now it is as frilly and dainty and distinctive as the most fastidious could desire.

This year they are made of organdy, batiste and fine linen for wear with smart sport skirts. The open neck is the most popular and becoming, and the collars usually broad and pretentious.

rage man to let me do it. They are looking over some papers at a farmhouse near here, and I ran down to ask you two to keep a secret."

"A secret!" repeated Mrs. Tresham, interested.

"A secret!" echoed Eunice, apprehensively.

"Yes, Oh, you dear little goose!" Patty addressed herself to Eunice. "Why this mysterious Miss Davey is in reality Mrs. Davey. She has a crippled husband and they adore each other. He is not able to come down to this district to straighten out some titles to an estate he inherited. A good friend of Mr. Porter recommended him as a capable lawyer, and Mr. Porter gets his first fee—a thousand dollars. He wants to surprise you, hence his absence on business."

"Oh, how I have wronged dear, dear

Roy!" wailed Eunice, in a tempest of tears.

In propria persona, along came Patty the next morning.

Fresh as a daisy, bright as a dew-drop, sweet and womanly, but with a happy sparkle in her eyes, her first query of Mrs. Tresham was:

"Where is Walter?" and that told the story.

Cricket on the Hearth

Sandman story that should be specially interesting to those who sit beside big, open fireplaces.

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

OLD Mother Cricket sat on the doorstep looking very sad. It was cold outside, and she had four little baby crickets to keep warm. She got them up in a corner out of the wind and tried to spread her wings over them. But even when they were out of the wind it was cold, and the poor little crickets kept crying that they were so cold they did not know what to do.

"Oh, mother dear," said little Johnny Cricket, "won't there some place to go where we can be warm?"

"And I'm so hungry," wailed little Mary Cricket, who was the baby.

"My dears," said old Mother Cricket, in a sad voice, "I am afraid there is no place to go. If we go in the house the dog will hurt us. And as for something to eat, I haven't been able to find anything all day long." And old Mother Cricket was so unhappy that she cried.

Now, you must understand that at that time all this happened crickets were not the cheerful little insects they are nowadays. No, indeed; they were very sad little things, and what is more, they never sang a song like all proper crickets do now.

AFTER old Mother Cricket had stopped crying, the little crickets tried hard to forget that they were cold and hungry and to go to sleep. But their mother could feel them shivering and knew that they were hungry and it made her very miserable.

"If I could only do something for them," she said to herself.

"Did you speak to me?" asked a polite voice.

"Oh, goodness me!" exclaimed old Mother Cricket, very much frightened, for she could see nobody.

"Don't be afraid; it's only me, the house cat." And then Mother Cricket could dimly make out the figure of a big black cat that had come up on the porch.

"Oh, please go away. I am not doing any harm here. Truly I'm not," said poor Mother Cricket, thinking that the house cat would chase her away.

"I'm not going to hurt you. I will help you if you will let me," said the cat. "Listen," she added, "if you will tell me your troubles, perhaps I can help."

At first old Mother Cricket was afraid that the cat was just trying to get a chance to gobble her and her precious babies up, but as nothing happened for some time, she began to feel less afraid.

"I'm cold," she told the house cat. "And my babies are cold and hungry. And I don't know what to do." And old Mother Cricket began to cry all over again.

"Is that all?" asked the cat. "Why, I can soon fix that. I am going to cry to be let indoors soon. You can come in with me. And as for food, there is lots of it in the house."

"Oh, dear me, no!" exclaimed old Mother Cricket. "That would never do. The dog would be sure to eat my babies up."

"Nonsense," said the cat. "The dog is afraid of me, and I will see that he doesn't eat you up. There is a nice little

Moonlight Madness

By Sophie Irene Loeb.

ARE you going on your vacation, and are you well fortified against moonlight madness? It is a matter to be considered.

For it has a way of getting you in its firm grasp. Everybody looks forward to vacation, to the good time when romance is rampant. But there are precursors. And the vacationist, suddenly thrust into sunlight and air and fields and seas, sometimes does not look before he leaps.

I am speaking of the leap into so-called love. How many marriages are made as the result of a two weeks' stay at the summer resort or the secluded country cannot be estimated. Many, many of them find their way to the divorce courts later.

And why? Because people have been under the glamour of forest glade and silver stream and many a day. They have forgotten the serious things. They want to get away from them, of course. Therefore it is unwise to jump into a serious thing without considerable forethought; for it is serious.

Given a lovely moon, a pretty girl, a soft voice, and all is forgotten save the moments of madness. The trick is done. The man proposes, she accepts. Life looms up luminous to them. They forget that they have to go back home again, with all its problems that are a thing apart from the pleasure-seeking period.

He cannot know how she will meet them; nor can she know how he will wear under different circumstances.

She has not seen him on a Saturday evening after a hard week's work, when his boss has been particularly overbearing; and he does not know what his attitude will be if she wants anything very, very much and can't get it.

He looks very attractive in his white flannel suit but will you love him as much in his well-worn business outfit?

Will you bear with him in time of trouble as in helping him to row a boat? It is all very well to fall in love and march bravely into matrimony after a few weeks' jaunt of joy, but the wise ones will recognize the enchantment of moon madness and carry the cloak of good sense for protection. It is very necessary these midsummer times.

They will also look about and realize that there is a great big sun in the sky whose rays you cannot escape if you would see things as they really are.

Plan to your good fun, your recreation, your romance, your sentiment; but don't let them run away with you. Allow reason to wander with you. You can keep her in the background, but bring her forward when the moonbeams play too merrily.

Learn something about each other after you are away from it all. In a word, let Cupid aim at you as he will, but ask him to be patient while you find out if he has sent the right arrow to the right person.

Let love dawn in the moonlight, but remember that Old Sol is on the job.

WHEN YOU WASH YOUR HAIR DON'T USE SOAP

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulled coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—ADV.

for Women Everywhere

THE well-dressed woman of today does not subject herself to the embarrassment of superfluous hair on the underarm.

With the vogue of sleeveless evening gown—the sheer blouse fabrics—and the popularity of the dance—women of nice feeling have, by means of the Gillette, presented an underarm as smooth as the face.

Milady
Decollete
Gillette

(Your dealer can supply you today)

The continued use of the Gillette—as much a matter of good grooming as good style—and the insistent demand of women everywhere for a Gillette adapted to their own use, has led to this new Model—Milady Decollete Gillette.

The experience of women who have used a Gillette for years proves that it does not roughen the skin or coarsen the hair in the slightest degree.

Of dainty size, in 14-K gold plate, enclosed in French Ivory case, lined with velvet and satin in Purple, Old Rose, Green or Old Gold—Milady Decollete Gillette is a most attractive toilet article. It will be found with the toilet goods in department stores, also in jewelry and drug stores and the foremost woman's specialty shops. The price is $5.

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Roy L. McCordell.

If Only Mr. Jarr Had Obeyed His Wife! But He Didn't. Now Just Look at Him!

MR. JARR had a bad summer cold and was at the mercy of his family and friends.
"Can I do anything for you, dear?" asked Mrs. Jarr.
"Let me alone," answered Mr. Jarr.
"You wouldn't have had this cold if you had listened to me," said Mrs. Jarr. "But, no! I never saw such a stubborn man!"
"M all right!" growled Mr. Jarr.
"Let me alone."
"Can't I make you a hot mustard footbath? That's the best thing in the world for a cold," persisted Mrs. Jarr.

With a scornful snort, Mr. Jarr refused the hot mustard footbath.
"Oh, you can laugh at the simple old home remedies," remarked Mrs. Jarr. "But if you had listened to me and taken five grains of quinine when you first felt it coming on you'd be all right now. Mrs. Rangle's out in the dining room. Can she come in to see you?"

Mr. Jarr snorted again, which Mrs. Jarr took to mean assent, for she brought in Mrs. Rangle.
"How do you feel now, Mr. Jarr?" asked Mrs. Rangle.
"M all right," said Mr. Jarr, lying manfully.

"You've tried hot onion poultices, of course," said Mrs. Rangle aside to Mrs. Jarr.
"M all right," said Mrs. Jarr, realising she had overlooked a bet. "I never thought of that."

"To draw the soreness from the chest," remarked Mrs. Rangle, "there's nothing like a hot onion poultice."
"My mother always used them on us children the first thing," said Mrs. Jarr.

"The doctors don't use fly blisters any more," said Mrs. Rangle, "but I tell you, my Aunt Debby was cured of sciatica by it after she had doctor for years and years. She had them blister all down the sciatic nerve!"

Here Mrs. Rangle gave a full description of her Aunt Debby's case, while Mr. Jarr burrowed under the bedclothes.

"Oh, dear, no!" cried Mrs. Rangle also. "He mustn't do that! Is he feverish?"

"Oh, he's been very feverish!" said Mrs. Jarr, proudly.
"When my husband gets feverish I always put a mustard plaster on him," said Mrs. Rangle.

"It all depends," answered Mrs. Rangle.

gle with a judicial air. "If there are pain and tightness in the chest, then the onion poultice by all means; but if he is just feverish and complains of aching, then the mustard plaster. But, you know, you could put the hot onion poultice on his chest and the mustard plaster on his back."
"Him?" asked Mrs. Jarr. "Why, he wouldn't let me give him a hot mustard footbath even!"
"Oh, don't I know how they are?" answered Mrs. Rangle. "When Mr. Jarr gets tonsillitis he gets out of his head and rambles on terribly for hours. But they are cunning. They never tell anything on themselves!"
"Le me 'lone," mumbled Mr. Jarr.
"He doesn't want us to leave him alone," said Mrs. Jarr.

"Isn't that just what I said?" asked Mrs. Rangle. "They are all big babies when they are sick. They can't stand things as women can. Why, my eldest sister—"
"Seat!" said Mr. Jarr.
"That's a good sign when they sneeze," remarked Mrs. Rangle. "It shows the cold is breaking up. But, all the same, I'd try the hot onion poultice."
"I'm afraid he won't let me put it on after I make it," said Mrs. Jarr.
"Mrs. Rangle," said Mr. Jarr, rising up, "you're a lovely lady, but won't you please go to your own home and torture your own husband?"
"Edward! For shame!" cried Mrs. Jarr. "When she has been over here all evening just seeing what she can do for you!"

"Well," said Mr. Jarr, "she can't play any of her romps here with me and another me with onions. I'm a sick man."
"Oh, I don't mind him," said Mrs. Rangle lightly. "Mr. Rangle is just the same when he's sick. Wants to be left alone like an animal and doesn't want anybody to do a living thing for him."
So, of course, the torturers fell upon their helpless victim.

Don't Ever Let Anyone Tell You This as a New One
W HAT bit her on the elbow?
"A tick."
"Been out in the country?"
"Nope. Just sitting here in her flat. It escaped from her wrist watch."

Proof in Hand.
T HOSE fish will cost you just $10 apiece," said the Fish Warden as he caught a disciple of Frank Walton pursuing his sport out of season.
"Great!" exclaimed the fisherman, handing over the money. "Give me a receipt, please. Now the boys will have to believe me when I tell them what I caught."

Just the Name.
W HAT do you think of these Greek dances?
"The name fits 'em all right. They certainly are Greek to me."

Why Not Dye at Home? It's a Cinch

Drawn for the Post-Dispatch by Frueh.

DESPITE the war, despite the British cordon shutting off whatever Germany would supply the world, it is known as reliable authority that everywhere in America the frankfurter still roars on the pan and sauerkraut and summer roses bloom.
But where are the dyes of yesterday—the pink and green and purple and mauve effects for milady's gowns? And must the next Easter come be pale? Yeg know that besides the big guns, Germany is world famous for its dyes. We cannot get them any more. There have been projects for establishing big plants for the making of dyes in America, but capital has stuck off, saying that when the war is over, Germany will come back into the dye market, and her low cost of production would bring American plants to smash.
Hope is held out that we may get German dyes through Switzerland. But, in case all else fails, Artist Frueh presents a few notions of his own as to possible home methods. They'll work all right, especially if you like red.

Fine Diplomacy

S MITH and Jones look much alike and are frequently taken for each other. One day Smith was in a certain big hotel and went into the dining room for dinner. The negro waiter busily brushed off the crumbs and said: "Why, how is you, Mr. Jones, how is you? I's glad to see you. I hasn't seen you since I waited on your table when you all used to have a little game upstahs."
"I'm afraid you are mistaken," said Smith very quickly. "My name isn't Jones. You have the wrong man."
"Nuff said," said the waiter, smiling. "You're a lovely lady, but won't you please go to your own home and torture your own husband?"

Lots of Variety.

W HY do you prefer a motor boat to a sail boat?
"It's more exciting. In a sail boat you face death by drowning only, while in a motor boat you may drown, you may be burned to a crisp by a gasoline explosion, or you may starve to death while the engine breaks down 10 miles from shore."

Her Busy Day.

T HERE'S a delivery wagon driving up to our door," said Hubby.
"Dear shopping again!" replied wifey. "So I went down to Wanacooper's and listened to the concert in their auditorium. It was just splendid, too. After that I went up in the grocery department and tried some new cereal they're demonstrating. I managed to get three helpings, so I didn't need to spend any money for luncheon. Then I looked at the fashion parade and spent the rest of the afternoon in the art gallery. After that I didn't feel as if I ought to leave the store without buying anything, so I had them send me home a spool of thread."
